Israel Rejects U.S. Mideast Peace Plan

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel, in one of its strongest blasts at the United States, has rejected U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace agreement, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

On the battlefield, Israeli commandos struck into Egypt again Monday night to mortar an Egyptian naval base on the Red Sea coast, the Israeli command said. It was the second raid on an Egyptian military installation in five days.

Relations between Israel and the United States, home of the Jewish nation's chief financial backers, were at their lowest point in years.

A communique issued after a special session Monday of Premier Golda Meir's Cabinet said the American proposals for peace between Israel and Jordan and between Israel and Egypt contain nothing obliging the Arabs to end hostilities and would encourage Arab hostility.

The statement said Israel "views with concern the disquieting initiatives of the United States at the four power talks" on the Middle East which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France have been holding in New York and Washington. The Cabinet said Israel will not be the victim of power politics and will reject any attempt to impose a settlement on it.

Start Over
Mrs. Meir, in an interview with the New York Times after the cabinet session, said the U.S. government was asking Israel "to start all over again, as though it were 1948."

"I don't think it's Washington's intention," Mrs. Meir said, "but each new proposal only encourages the Arabs to increase their military activity across the borders."

The latest American proposal reportedly calls for Israeli withdrawal from the west bank of the Jordan River, captured during the 1967 war, and Israeli-Jordanian talks on the status of Jerusalem, which Israel unified after taking the Arab sector from Jordan during the 1967 fighting. The United States advocates internationalization of the city, but Israel says it will never give it up.

Arab Guerrillas
Political informants said the Israeli Cabinet was particularly concerned that the U.S. proposals had no provision for dealing with the Arab guerrillas.

Although they angered the Israelis, the U.S. proposals seemed to do nothing to raise Washington's stock with the Arabs. Egypt rejected the proposals.

Peace Talks End, Nigeria Attacks Biafra

Four-Part Strategy Aims at Paring Secessionist Area

PWERRI, Biafra (AP) — Nigerian forces have launched a four-pronged attack on Biafra following the abortive Addis Ababa peace talks.

The thrust comes from the Nigerian 3rd Division based at Aba, which fell to the federal side a year ago.

Biafran officials said here there had been heavy casualties on both sides, and the Nigerian offensive was supported by heavy artillery, rockets, armored vehicles and the air force.

The Nigerians apparently are trying to link up their forces in Aba with those in Ikotekpe, cutting off a large slice of Biafran territory.

Biafran officials admit the Nigerians have made some gains but say a counterattack checked the advance.

Biafran military sources claim they have also thwarted an attempted federal advance from Onitsha, which the Nigerians captured two years ago, and that the Nigerians apparently have abandoned their attempts to retake Owerri after repeated counterattacks by the Biafrans.

Rogers Optimistic at Saigon War Abilities

Israeli Charge That U.S. Plan for Peace Appeases Arabs Denied by Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers for a solution to the problem strongly defended the controversial U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace today and specifically rejected an Israeli charge that they amounted to "appeasement of the Arabs."

Rogers also said "we have reason to be cautiously optimistic" about the eventual success of the effort to have South Vietnam take over its own defense.

Rogers told a news conference that North Vietnamese infiltration into the South is down at least 60 per cent this year from last.

But he declined to predict whether a recent upswing in North Vietnamese troop movements into the South foreshadowed another enemy offensive.

The secretary of state gave a general year-end sum-up of the international picture which he found improved despite some disappointments.

"I think on the whole the President can be proud of his leadership in the foreign affairs field," Rogers said.

Little Progress

But one important area where admittedly little progress has been made is in efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute — and Washington's new proposals aimed at finding a peaceful solution have been rebuffed by both sides.

The Israeli cabinet Monday issued a statement which reflected Rogers' reference to accomplishments for the first year of the Nixon administration.

He said it was significant that "the international climate toward the United States has been greatly improved as a result of Washington's new proposals."

On the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitations talks (SALT), Rogers said "We are very encouraged by the results."

But this should not be taken to mean that the talks "will be successful when they get down to the substance," he cautioned.

Philadelphia Plan Passes

Tax Reform Bill Given Final Congressional Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the $19.9 billion appropriation for health, education and labor programs — which Nixon has threatened to veto also because it exceeds his budget—will be the first order bill would have barred continuation of that program; Nixon began its second session Jan. 19.

Veto Threatened
A Senate amendment tacked on to the catch-all appropriation bill would have barred continuation of that program; Nixon began its second session Jan. 19.

The House voted 208-156 to strike the amendment from the bill, and the Senate, weary and ready to quit, finally yielded, too.

In a statement, President Nixon said today: "I am deeply gratified that the Congress has acted responsibly to allow continuation of the Philadelphia Plan and our program of positive steps to assure equal job opportunity. The members of the Congress who contributed to this wise action have my thanks and congratulations."

Nixon said his administration is determined that "every American should have equal opportunity for new jobs created by the taxes paid by all Americans." He said the right had been "so long denied or given lip service."

The roll call vote was 39-29 to go along with the House and clear the way for a Christmas holiday.

Continued Spending
The appropriations involved were minor, but the bill carried another amendment crucial to the fragile framework with which Congress arranged to end the longest session in six years. That one provides authority for continued spending by government agencies which have not yet received their regular appropriations for the fiscal year which began last June 30.

A veto on the civil rights issue would have killed the spending history, and provides a 15 per cent increase in Social Security government agencies could not meet their payrolls without it.

Up to 920 Holiday Road Deaths Seen

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today that 800 to 920 persons may be killed in traffic accidents over the Christmas weekend. It urged caution and moderation in holiday drinking.

"Ideally, if you are going to drive, it would be better if you didn't drink at all," Howard Pyle, council president, advised.

"But if you do imbibe, do so in such a manner that your coordination, eyesight, and common sense will not be impaired so that you can safely cope with the high hazards of this holiday such as unusually heavy traffic, poor weather conditions, and early darkness," Pyle added.

To stay unimpaired by alcohol, a persons should allow an hour to pass for each average drink, Pyle suggested. An average drink would be one containing an ounce of whiskey, gin, etc., or a 12-ounce serving of beer, he said.

The period covered by the council's estimate will extend from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 24, to midnight Sunday, Dec. 28. During the Thanksgiving weekend, containing the same number of days, there were 688 traffic deaths.

Administration Viewpoint

Northern School Segregation Escapes Federal Crackdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of the Nixon administration may coincide with school officials in the North and another for the South. The law prohibits racial discrimination at schools receiving federal assistance and that law has been applied equally throughout the country," Panetta said.

The government has done little about northern school segregation, officials say, for two main reasons: lack of judicial mandate from the Supreme Court and active discouragement by Congress.

"It has become clear to me that the old bugaboo of keeping segregation where it is times established and main school systems because they are clear cut," Finch said. "That is only de facto segregated, in dual systems where state law stand of de jure segregated as required."

The result of some official act, is "The Supreme Court would have to say that de facto segregation is illegal before government agencies can act," he said. "And I don't expect that will happen soon."

Residential Patterns
De facto is the term applied to school segregation resulting solely from residential patterns decreed by law or custom, such as state-established dual school systems in the South.

"There are few if any pure de facto situations," Panetta said. "Lift the rock of de facto, and all too frequently something ugly and discriminatory crawls out from under it."

Never Heard
The high court has never agreed to hear a case involving de facto school segregation. Further, Congress discouraged government action against de facto segregation by saying in 1965 no steps could be required to correct "racial imbalance" in schools free from official discrimination.

Panetta referred to this as letting the North "off the hook." But he denied the government

Matter of Policy
In the North, although school systems may have at various times established and maintained particular schools for minority students, many years have elapsed since rigid racial segregation existed as a matter of formal policy or practice. "Consequently, evidence of discrimination must be sought in the administrative actions of local authorities—a process that invariably requires the examination of hundreds and thousands of individual decisions made by school officials over a period of years," Panetta said.

Such evidence would include bigger classes, fewer qualified teachers, and inferior equipment in predominantly Negro schools than in predominantly white ones. It could also be gerrymandered school attendance zones or teachers assigned by race.

...tion for it. Jordan was silent on the plan for it, and one source at the Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, commented "America has been against us all along. How do we know this is not some subtle new trick?"

The Rabat conference pro-rocket attacks during the night drove some of the usual war from Arab guerrillas in Jordan talk, but sources there said it was apparent that most leaders of the Arab world realize they can't win another war against Israel yet.

Evolving Strategy

The conference was evolving a strategy of letting the Palestine guerrillas, Arabs who claim they are refugees from Palestine, carry more of the burden of daily harassment of Israel while the Arab nations continue to develop and train their own forces.

The summit meeting was expected to end today with a communique stressing support for the Palestine Liberation Organization, and the leaders agreed that they should contribute more money and arms to the guerrillas.

The Israeli commando raid hit the Egyptian naval base at Safage, about 62 miles south of the mouth of the Gulf of Suez, spokesmen said. The Israelis gave no estimate of the damage they inflicted, but said all the commandos returned safely.

An Egyptian military spokesman denied that Israeli commandos had mortared the naval base at Safage "or any other place on the Red Sea coast."

Israeli sources also reported that the Rabat conference was apparent that most leaders of the Arab world realize they can't win another war against Israel yet.

Billionaire to Talk With Hanoi Delegates About POW Presents

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot flew into Bangkok today and expressed optimism that North Vietnam will allow him to deliver two plane loads of Christmas presents to an estimated 1,400 U.S. prisoners of war.

"I would be very disappointed if they turned me down," Perot said to newsmen at the airport. He arrived here from Hong Kong aboard one of two chartered airliners. The other is waiting for word in Dallas, Tex., where Perot and his party began their holiday mission Sunday night.

Proceed Alone

Perot said he planned to leave the jet he arrived on in Bangkok and go on ahead by himself to meet with North Vietnamese officials either in Laos or Cambodia.

Advance men representing Perot have been in Bangkok and in the Laotian capital, Vientiane, attempting to clear the way for the delivery of the 180,000 pounds of presents.

Asked what he would do should North Vietnam refuse permission by Christmas, Perot replied "We will wait. We have several contingency plans. While I would like those men to receive their gifts for Christmas, anytime we get to them will be Christmas for them."

Send by Mail

North Vietnam told Perot before he left the United States that Christmas packages for U.S. prisoners should be sent by mail, via Moscow.

The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks issued the text of the telegram it sent to Perot Dec. 10. It accused the United States of waging an aggressive war in Vietnam and said that despite bombing villages and killing civilians, the U.S. prisoners "have been treated according to humane policies of the government."

The message also outlined those rules for packages sent to Moscow. "Each airman is allowed to receive package weighing not more than three kilos (about 6 1/2 pounds), packages may include post cards, medicines, items for personal use, not easily spoiled foodstuffs."

Humanitarian Mission

The short, crewcut Perot, who has built a fortune on computers, emphasized that his mission was strictly a humanitarian one.

"There is no military meaning to this," he said.

Perot said he hoped his mission would help develop mutual understanding between the United States and North Vietnam.

"It is likely that they will be suspicious of me," he said. "That is why it is essential that I get into Hanoi. I plan to tell them all the details of my mission and to answer any questions they may have."

The two planes chartered by Perot at a personal cost of $200,000 are loaded with $400,000 worth of gifts and supplies.

Package From Home

In addition to 1,400 canned "traditional Christmas dinners," Perot said, the planes are carrying mail, family photographs, packages from home, clothing, 1,400 individual medical kits and 140 large medical kits.

Perot said he considered his mission "directly related to the willingness of the majority of American people to negotiate for peace."

"People back home are looking at how they believe these prisoners are being treated and that gives them an over-all attitude about the North Vietnamese," he said.

"I believe we are looking at these men, the North Vietnamese through Western eyes. We are concerned that they have the same consideration for the rights and dignity of the individual, that they are as concerned as we are with the value of human life."

"As soon as we know more about each other I am convinced we can come to peace," Perot said. It was one of his dreams for Americans like himself to spend their resources in Southeast Asia helping to improve the lot of the region's people.

"That is my dream," he said, "to help build, not to put holes in the ground."

B52s Stage Heavy Raids at Cambodian Border Before Start of Holiday Truce

SAIGON (AP) — Battlefield of the allied standoff in Vietnam remained at a low level but U.S. B52 bombers made heavy raids along the Cambodian border today as the start of the annual Christmas truce neared.

A three-day Viet Cong ceasefire was scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve, or 5 a.m. EST.

U.S. sources said they anticipated "isolated incidents" during the cease-fire.

Recuspy Effort

Some 35 B52s made heavy raids during the night on North Vietnamese base camps along the Cambodian border. The big units will probably intensify their resupply efforts during the week under the relative safety of 1,000 tons of explosives within a mile of the border and about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

The strikes were concentrated in the "Fish Hook" region, a major North Vietnamese staging area and infiltration corridor where the common border of Tay Ninh and Binh Long provinces touches Cambodia.

Assessing the situation from Saigon north to the border, an official source said "The low level of enemy activity suggests that most of the enemy units have completed the December action period and are returning to a refitting phase in preparation for the next action period."

In the biggest action reported, South Vietnamese headquarters made heavy raids along the Cambodian border today as the start of the annual Christmas truce neared.

A spokesman said the government force killed 68 of the enemy. He said government casualties were three men killed and 15 men wounded.

Youths Save Men Trapped Under Rocks

TAVERNIER, Fla. (AP) — Six teen-aged boys, clawing with their bare hands, saved two men and a poodle puppy trapped Monday night in a car by eight tons of gravel.

William Nielson, 67, of Miami, and Oliver Anderson, 78, of Key Largo, told police they were preparing to turn off State Road 90S when an oncoming truck swerved and veered over on its side, sending the gravel onto the auto.

The teen-agers, camping nearby, saw the accident and began scooping the gravel out through the shattered windshield. The youths managed to reach the men and give them breathing space while they struggled to open a door.

But as the men emerged, the boys heard the muffled yelps of a dog, and were told "Hippie" the poodle was still inside.

"His barking grew weaker and weaker," said one boy, his hand slashed by the rocks. "Finally, I cried out I could feel his nose," and soon the dog bounded out, unharmed.

No charges were filed against the truck driver, who was too dazed to help with the rescue, officials said.

New Pollution Controls on the Fox

There were two significant developments last week in the continuing campaign to reduce the pollution load of the lower Fox River, the river which serves the largest concentration of paper manufacturing mills of any stream in the country.

Governor Knowles announced at a four-state Lake Michigan pollution conference in Chicago last week that the state is issuing new orders to 18 pulp and paper mills in the Valley which will set daily limits on the volume of oxygen-consuming materials and suspended solids which each mill can discharge into the river.

It is a new approach in pollution abatement orders for the pulp and paper industry. The limits are directly related to production, and the mills will either have to install costly and sophisticated new treatment facilities or curtail their production. And while spokesmen for the mills called the new orders tough and costly, most also termed them workable and expressed the belief the 1972 deadline could be met.

The other development which ties in closely with the state's new approach was the announcement from Green Bay of final conclusions from a five-year research project sponsored jointly by the Metropolitan Sewerage District and four paper mills. And the conclusion was that it is technically feasible to treat paper mill effluent along with domestic wastes in municipal sewerage plants.

Further study is continuing as to the economic feasibility of such treatment. The Metropolitan Sewerage District will determine what it would have to charge the cooperating mills for such treatment, and the mills then will decide how such charges would compare with installing and operating their own treatment facilities.

One general conclusion, however, is crystal clear. More extensive research has been done on the Fox River pollution problem and kindred situations such as the Wisconsin River than in any other field of water study, and as a result more facts are known about the relationship of paper production and a river's ability to cleanse itself. In addition, the paper industry has spent many millions of dollars on that research and on the installation of various treatment systems developed through such research.

It is this background of information and progress which makes the new steps to be taken possible. There is a very good chance that the Fox River will be one of the first in the country to be reclaimed from the dead, and yet its vital paper manufacturing industries will also have been preserved.

Parks and Recreation Studies

Among the self-evident facts about the changing employment market in Wisconsin and in the nation is the certainty that in an age of increasing leisure time for the average man, and an enlarging understanding of the pleasures of the outdoors and its resources, there will be more demand for specialists to work in the field of parks and outdoor recreation.

The board of regents of the state university system has approved a master's degree curriculum in the field at Stevens Point University, and it is now being reviewed by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education. That agency by law must endorse all such curriculum modification and expansion proposals of the state-supported systems of higher education before they can be put into effect.

The assumption is that the CCHE will endorse the plan. The university says that no new faculty will be required and that the M. A. opportunity can be provided for interested students merely through a reorganization of existing course offerings.

Those many Wisconsin residents who have been aware of the leadership of the natural resources and outdoors recreational expansion movement during the last quarter of a century will doubtless agree that such an enrichment of the degree offerings at Stevens Point would be a fitting memorial for one of its former faculty members.

The late Prof. Fred Schmeekle of the Stevens Point faculty retired a few years ago after long service, and passed away soon after his retirement.

He was one of the most respected of the pioneers in his field and perhaps contributed more to the teaching of conservation in its true and broadest sense than any except half a dozen of his contemporaries during his creative lifetime. A scholarship in his name at the university when the new curriculum is approved would be an appropriate acknowledgement of his services, sponsored perhaps by the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, the Wisconsin Parks and Recreation Society, the Izaak Walton League, or through a group of such organizations acting cooperatively.

No Combat Troops for Laos, Thailand

It first appeared that the Senate amendment to the defense appropriation bill which prohibited the use of American combat forces in Thailand or Laos without consultation with Congress was a reaffirmation of Congressional authority in cases of war and something of a slap at the White House. But spokesmen for President Nixon say that the amendment had the prior approval of the President and was really an endorsement of Mr. Nixon's program for Asia.

The amendment was offered by Senator Frank Church, of Idaho, consistent opponent to the extent of our involvement in Vietnam, and Senator Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. Adopted by a vote of 73-17, the amendment states that "in line with the expressed intention of the President of the United States, none of the funds appropriated by this act shall be used to finance the introduction of American ground combat troops into Laos or Thailand."

President Nixon has emphasized his intention, not only of turning more and more of the burden of the war over to the Vietnamese, but that his Administration expects Asian nations generally to contribute more to their own defenses and take more responsibility in regional military affairs. He has not always been consistent, however, possibly due to his habit of ad lib remarks instead of sticking to a carefully worked out statement. In Thailand he said the United States would help defend that nation against external or internal enemies, although he did not specify that American ground troops would be used.

The action in the Senate has developed from the feeling of frustration among many Senators over the earlier escalation of the war and their apparent impotence to halt it. Back in the days when wars had to be declared, the Congressional role to do so was spelled out in the United States Constitution. But wars in the last couple of decades have just sort of grown and the executive branch of our government has widened them under the authority of the President as Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces.

It may be that President Nixon saw the inevitability of passage of a proposed amendment against the use of funds for American combat troops in Laos and Thailand. But it is also highly likely that he also saw his backing of the amendment as further warning to Laotians, Thais and Vietnamese that they must accept more responsibility and not rely upon the eternal military help of the United States. Since the President would also be presented with a serious dilemma if Communist forces invade Laos in strength, the amendment also takes him off the hook and at least the dilemma is shared with Congress.

View on President's Message

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Dec. 16, 1869.
The Message of President Grant to Congress, which may be found in this week's issue, is as gratifying to his friends and supporters as it is displeasing to his enemies.
It shows that, while he has not had the same drill in the school of politics that others have enjoyed, he has made the best of his brief experience. The manner in which he treats the question of specie payment has won the approval and support of every one who has the interest of all classes at heart.
It is apparent that that class of people who are laboring to liquidate their private debts he treats with especial favor. He would gradually return to a gold basis by authorizing the Treasury to redeem its own paper at a fixed price, whenever presented, and to withhold from circulation all currency so reduced until sold again for gold.
His theory of paying the public debt is not to over-tax the people of the present generation for that purpose, for, while they have saved the country from destruction at the cost of blood and treasure, future generations ought to be willing to help pay for the blessings and privileges which the perpetuation of a free government affords them.

25 YEARS AGO

Officers elected by delegates to the Outagamie County Adjustment Agency were Joseph E. Garvey, Freedom, president; Thomas W. Dorsey, Town of Center, vice chairman; and Oscar Franzke, Town of Grand Chute.

A Word Edgewise

Nixon's Vietnamizing of War Was Made Possible by Johnson

BY JOHN P. ROCHE
The Nixon Administration's claims to have invented "Vietnamization" are historically pretty dubious. For four years this policy has been on the back burner — not because Americans wanted to fight the war, but because unless we took over the brunt of the fighting, the war would have been lost. Vietnamization needs elbow-room. A convincing case can be made that the reason the war has slackened off in 1969 is that between 1965-1968 (according to General Gian) half a million North Vietnamese soldiers were killed.
No one who has ever run for even precinct captain expects President Nixon to thank Lyndon Johnson for providing the necessary preconditions for turning the war over to Saigon. Maximum courtesy under the circumstances would involve an exchange of Christmas cards. On the other hand, political prudence might suggest that ham-handed G.O.P. efforts to distinguish the "bold, new policy" from the Johnson Administration's "bad, only policy" be muffled — the remarks of Vice President Agnew and Attorney General Mitchell come to mind. A volcano could erupt in Texas and — despite the savage treatment he got from the intelligentsia — there are millions of Americans — Negroes, the sick, the poor, the elderly — who consider Lyndon Baines Johnson their President.
Turned Them On
Few political commentators have ever understood Johnson's tremendous ability to communicate with what are sneeringly known as the "masses." I have watched and worked with Democratic politicians for 20 years and I have never seen any one who could achieve the kind of empathy with a trade union, or a ghetto, audience that L.B.J. possessed. Adlai Stevenson left them cold, John Kennedy fascinated them and inspired a certain awe, Hubert Humphrey generated amused affection — Johnson really turned them on. They were "his people" and they knew it. He knew it too and the knowledge gave him the confidence to be himself, to forget the commentators who were sitting out there waiting for a chance to call him a "cornball demagogue."
In the summer of 1968, for example, the President went to speak at the Convention of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in Atlantic City. I have never seen anything like it — the Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Italians, Jews (and various mixtures) who are the ILGWU simply went wild, delegates were standing on chairs yelling and crying at the same time. It took 20 minutes to quiet the house so Johnson could start his speech — and then the roar went up again. Lyndon Johnson had signed off, he could do nothing more for the workers. In practical terms they were wasting their emotion on a lame-duck. But out came their affection in an overwhelming surge — there wasn't a dry eye in the house.
Well, there was. Right next to me was a journalist who was obviously nauseated by the strange customs of the common folk. "God," he said to me, "it's terrifying, almost like fascism." I was under strict instructions from George Christian, the President's press secretary, never to hit newspapermen, so I ignored him. But he persisted and gave me a line to remember: "It is fortunate for the country that people who behave this way," he said, "have no control over the government."
Bench Hatchmen
Symbolically, I am convinced that this was Lyndon Johnson's unforgivable offense: he brought this elemental, populist commitment into the White House and terrified those who consider politics to be a genteel Establishment exercise. Lyndon Johnson is anti-Establishment to the core. He has taken his lumps for this eccentricity, but his fans are still out there in the millions and they take his views seriously — after all, who else ever did a damn thing for them?
The former President has been a model of political decorum for almost a year now, but he is a proud man. He certainly doesn't expect any medals from Nixon, but the latter would be well advised to bench some of his hatchmen. That volcano is anything but extinct.

Wisconsin Report

Here Are the Facts On Taxes, Spending By State This Year

By JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — One of the best reports of its kind ever produced by the state government is a slim volume

The fiscal digest shows that 33 per cent of the immensely increasing tax yield of the state from all sources is spent for education. Few, indeed, are the correspondents who suggest cutbacks there.

The next most costly categorical expenditure of the state is for aids and tax shares to localities. Can they be cut? The answer is self evident in the universal cries of impatience about property tax trends and the determined, sometimes belligerent pressures from the localities for more succor from the state treasury to permit a leveling of their local tax levies.

Together they account for more than half of the expenditures from the state treasury. Frequently there are complaints about legislators and their salaries and perquisites. There were also flashes of criticism recently about pay boosts authorized for judges.

Costs Are Slight
But these are trivia, amounting in all last year — the expenditures of all the courts and their staffs, and all the legislators and their staffs and perquisites — to one-half of one per cent of the state's spending.

Anyone who is listening can hear casual remarks daily showing a vast misapprehension about the sources of the state's revenues, in part perhaps, because the people have not yet become accustomed to the new four per cent general sales tax that took effect only three months ago.

Admittedly that was a sizable boost, more than doubling the receipts from that source. Some critics insist that the income tax should have been raised in an equal amount instead. But it is not generally recognized that the income tax is already the giant among the state treasury's producers. Last year it accounted for 28 per cent of total income, or nearly six times the production of the limited sales tax then in effect.

Wyngaard

prepared by the State Department of Administration and entitled "Fiscal Digest of Wisconsin." It covers fiscal 1969. True as the saying may be, at this time of nearly universal concern about state financing, whether reactions are to increasing spending or the denial of some of the demands of special groups, the little book should be in the hands of every literate citizen of the state.

The first useful disclosure in the report is that the state is actually collecting far more revenues than the average citizen is aware, because state expenditures are virtually always expressed in terms of the general purpose revenues represented in the so-called general fund budget. Moreover, that budget covers a biennium, or two years. For the next two years the biennial budget expenditures will be slightly more than one and one half billion.

Nearly Two Billion
The actuality, however, is that the state is spending at the rate of nearly two billion a year. The difference is accounted for by the fact that the state treasury collects huge amounts in segregated funds and program receipts besides taxes funneled into the general fund to finance the "budget."

The figures are of fiscal 1969. This means that the comparable revenues and expenditures in the aggregate will be substantially higher in the current fiscal year and the one to follow because of steadily rising receipts from program revenues, from segregated taxes, and from general fund taxes.

Mail received at this time of the year by this reporter, and doubtless others, repeats the theme that spending is too high and that taxation on the whole has reached a painful level. Such missives doubtless come from honest and earnest men and women.

How Can Cuts Come?
But how?

Doesn't Yield Half
Even with the broadening of the sales tax this year, it will yield no more than one-half of the dollar production of the income tax.

Curiously enough, the third most important revenue source of the state treasury is federal aid. Last year this accounted for more than 16 per cent, in spite of the fact that most authorities agreed the state is not getting an equitable share of the federal government's fund distribution to the states.

Strictly Personal

As We Get Richer, We Get Stingier

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
The lovely state of Maine has fewer than one million inhabitants. What do you suppose would happen to that state if we took all of the 30 million poor people of the United States, crammed them into that state, and gave each person a daily food ration of a handful of rice?
This is precisely the condition in the Indian state of West Bengal, as pointed out by Dr. N. J. Berrill, the biologist, in his book, "The Person in the Womb."
These millions of young children are suffering from "protein starvation." It has been estimated that between 30 and 40 per cent of the children of India have suffered permanent brain damage by the time they reach school age, because of protein deficiency.
As the former food minister of India told the Committee on the World Food Crisis not long ago, "This means that we are, in effect, producing subhuman beings at the rate of 35 million a year. By the time they reach school age, they are unable to concentrate sufficiently to absorb and retain knowledge. . . the millions of rupees spent on new school buildings and facilities have been wasted." been wasted."

Meanwhile, as Dr. Berrill goes on to say, we are increasing the world's population by 180,000 persons per day. Eighty per cent of the world's people consist of the colored races, who are far poorer than we — and their rate of increase greatly outstrips the rest of us.

Moreover, while there are fewer than a billion people in the richer countries of the northern hemisphere, there are more than two billion in the poorer southern countries. "And the average wealth is 15 times as great in the rich areas as in the poor, with the gap widening steadily year by year," the author reminds us.

Every child born in the U. S. uses eight times as much of our natural resources as a child born in an underdeveloped country. Americans, with only six per cent of the world's population, already consume more than half of the world's annual production of nonrenewable resources. And this discrepancy is getting larger, not smaller.

Yet the U. S. Congressional committee on foreign affairs last month recommended slashing $465 million from the foreign aid bill that was already the lowest on record. This was all for "economic assistance," not for military aid, which was not cut. We give less than one-half of one per cent of our Gross National Product to foreign aid — and most of this are loans at substantial interest rates. As we get richer, we get stingier, and dumber.

Heart Attack Claims Life of Appleton Man

An acute heart attack was listed as the cause of death of a 65-year-old Appleton man who collapsed Monday afternoon at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. office in downtown Appleton.

Elof Fredrickson, 1014 E. Eldorado St., was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was taken by the rescue squad, according to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps.

Rescue squad personnel, who were called at 2:30 p.m., administered oxygen and heart massage. Fredrickson was a retired carpenter.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Wichmann Funeral Home.

Children in Some 15 to 20 area families, who might otherwise get little for Christmas, will find toys under the tree Thursday, thanks to Appleton fire fighters who, for the past several months, have been sorting, repairing and wrapping donated items. ## To Your Good Health Hiatal Hernia Not An Uncommon Ailment

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor told me I had a very small hernia at the top of my stomach. Is there any cure? Or any chance that some day it will cause an ulcer or probably a cancer?

I was 63 last month and would like to have this corrected before I get too old. Please print as I read your column every time it appears in the paper. — Mrs. J. R.

I dare say you are more worried about this hernia than you should be, and I have written about it frequently in set your mind at rest about that. If you've missed my discussions of this, I'm sorry, but for various reasons some newspapers cannot print the column every day although I dutifully write one every day of the year. I hope you'll see this one.

To go on, this type of trouble was seldom recognized a generation or two ago, mild cases not causing the patients much trouble. Painful cases were misidentified often as "an ulcer." X-ray is generally necessary to distinguish these hernias from ulcers. We now know that the hernias are quite common.

The technical name, by the way, is either hiatus hernia or hiatal hernia, and occasionally quite different terms are used for it: esophageal hernia or "upside-down stomach," the latter being, of course, pretty far-fetched.

Anyway, if such a hernia causes little distress, there's no need to do anything about it. If it is frequently painful, a bland diet, the same as used for ulcers, may calm it down.

Since sheer gravity helps keep the stomach down where it belongs, the hernia may trouble a patient when lying down but not otherwise. Hence raising the head of the bed a few inches (so you lie on a slight slope) sometimes helps. If a person is overweight, losing some excess fat can provide comfort; if there is less fat in the abdomen, there is less pressure upward on the stomach.

In severe cases surgery sometimes is required, but simple precautions will control most cases without surgery. Judging from the sound of your letter, your case isn't one that is likely to give you cause for concern.

If you'd like to learn more about this problem, write for my booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent, for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson. When one has diarrhea with yellow, watery stools, does it mean there is inflammation somewhere in the bowels? I am 69 — E. B. K.

It may — or may not. It may be due to lack of sufficient acid in the stomach. Stool studies (to detect parasites) and bowel X-ray are necessary procedures before one can hope to reach a dependable diagnosis.

Note to L. R.: The reason I won't eat raw hamburger is that it may occasionally be infested with eggs of the beef tapeworm. It may not be common — but having even one tapeworm is more than enough. So I insist on having meat cooked.

Koering Co. Reports '69 Sales Gains

Record Shipments, Lower Earnings Drop Profit Margins

MILWAUKEE — Koering Co., international machinery manufacturer which has a farm equipment division headquartered in Appleton, today reported sales for the fiscal year, ending Nov. 30, 1969, of $245,451,000 compared with $226,936,000 a year ago.

Earnings totaled $8,120,000 this year compared with $9,750,000 a year ago. This represents per share earnings of $2.55 compared with $3.22.

"The record shipments coupled with lower earnings primarily reflects two circumstances which affected the performance of Koehring and other capital goods manufacturers during 1969—higher costs of doing business and government fiscal and monetary controls to control inflation," Orville R. Mertz, president, said.

"Profit margins were further eroded," he added, "due to expenses and delays involved in expansion programs and introduction of new product lines."

Mertz said that programs are in progress to offset the inflationary pressure.

He said that "economic prospects for 1970 are uncertain but the urgent needs for housing, pure water, food and transportation continue."

The Appleton division is called Fox Tractor, which was purchased by the firm in 1968.

Brownson has been granted by the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin for the installation of signals at the grade crossing of County Trunk A and the tracks of the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. north of State 125.

Agnew to Visit 3 Nations Hit By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's 10-day Manila government $45 million, 37,000-mile trip includes stops in three countries—the Philippines, Thailand and Formosa—that have been targets of recent attacks in the Senate. Agnew also has expressed hope of going to Vietnam although it is not listed on the itinerary and aides said no visit was planned. The trip, Agnew's first abroad as vice president, is designed to give him first-hand knowledge of Asia.

The vice president will be meeting with top officials of the nations he visits and is likely to run into reaction to Senate attacks on military aid to some Asian nations.

Cost of Troops
In the Philippines, where Agnew is to attend the Dec. 30 inauguration of President Ferdinand E. Marcos, there was strong criticism of a charge by Sen. J. W. Fulbright that the United States was being dragged into another Vietnam there.

Democrats to Plan Changes in Party Convention
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Democratic party reform commission, designed to gather recommendations for changes in the Democratic National Convention machinery, will hold a five-state hearing in Minneapolis Jan. 15.

It will be the first in a series of meetings around the country. The commission is one of two special study groups created by the 1968 party convention in Chicago.

Members of the group include Rep. James O'Hara (D-Mich.), the chairman, Prof. Carl Albert of the University of Minnesota, North Dakota Democrat, and Sen. James Buckley (D-N.Y.).

Agnew will be accompanied on the trip by his wife and Apolcaro National Committeeman Eugene C. Liv Bjorlie. State Rep. June Franklin of Iowa; former Illinois Gov. Sam Shapiro and Donald Peterson of Eau Claire will go the rest of the way.

The group will leave Washington Friday and return Jan. 19.

Cash Stolen From Service Station
KALKAUNA — An undetermined amount of cash was reported stolen from Park Station Road Service Station 401 Lawrence St. sometime after closing Sunday night.

Entry was gained by raising an unlocked overhead door. The padlock on a cash box was sawed off and the safe entered. Richard Robel, the owner, told police that he would be unable to determine the exact amount missing until he checked with employees who worked over the weekend.

Reduced Size Welcomed by Marine Corps

Leaders Feel Small Force Can be Kept A* Higher Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine leaders are welcoming planned reductions in the size of the corps as an opportunity to improve the quality of their traditionally "gung ho" branch of the armed services.

"With a smaller force you can be selective in who you take in and who you keep," one general said.

Marine planners believe a force of about 200,000 men would enable them to operate three divisions and supporting aircraft wings in a high state of readiness.

The Marines had 190,000 men in the summer of 1965 when the United States launched its big military buildup for Vietnam.

The corps reached a Vietnam peak of nearly 315,000 last March.

Trim Strength
Since then, as President Nixon has pulled some forces out of Vietnam, the administration has moved to trim Marine strength by 20,000 men before June 30.

The new defense budget probably will provide for a further Marine manpower cut of 30,000 40,000 men.

That would bring the corps down to about 254,000 by mid-1971. At this rate the hoped for floor of about 200,000 would be reached in 1972.

The Marines consider themselves an elite group composed of almost all volunteers.

However, the Vietnam war requirements forced the Marines to turn to the draft in 1965 for the first time in 13 years.

The Marines would like to dispense with the draft entirely and a return to the level of 200,000 men probably would enable them to do so.

Marine generals say the corps can meet its traditional mission as a quick responding crisis force with three divisions.

This would place the 2nd Marine Division on the East Coast where it now is stationed, the 1st Marine Division on the West Coast, and the 3rd Marine Division split between Okinawa and Hawaii.

Marine battalions in ready-to-land condition are normally kept afloat in the Mediterranean, the Caribbean and the Far East.

Passes Denied

Berlin Wall Kept Closed for Holiday

BERLIN (AP) — It is Christmas time in Berlin and it is bitter cold. For the divided city's residents, there is a chill in their hearts.

It is the fourth Christmas that the East German Communists have denied passes so that West Berliners cannot visit their friends and relatives across the wall in East Berlin.

After the East Germans erected their wall in August 1961, they wanted 2 1/2 years before they granted the first passes at Christmas 1963. There were war-time passes for special family events and a world away that for them fall at Christmas.

There are about 7,000 of these never-saw-his-brother-who-was-ed their wall in August 1961, passes a month. It is a safety valve the East German regime, up later, when the parents granted the first passes at Christmas 1963. There were war-time passes for special family events and a world away that for them fall at Christmas.

Pressure Point
In the interim, the East Berlin regime of Walter Ulbricht has used the wall to put unrelenting pressure on the isolated West Berliners to make them give in to Communist demands.

One demand is that the West Berlin city government deal with East Germany as a separate entity from West Germany. Many Mayor Klaus Schuezel and his city administration cannot accept this. So, the East Germans remain adamant and the people remain cut off even at Christmas.

Parted Brothers

A 9-year-old boy in a West Berlin hospital after having his tonsils out reflected on what divided Berlin means. The hospital is in what was not far from the wall.

His brother, 12, also was in the hospital, coincidentally at the same time and for the same thing—tonsils. But he was put in an East Berlin hospital, a few miles away, and the two little German boys were cut off from one another, even at Christmas.

Hardship Passes
A few lucky West Berliners will be able to go. They are the ones who got so-called hardship passes for special family events and a world away that for them fall at Christmas.

Infants Slain, But Jesus Survives

(Editor's note: This is the fifth installment of a six-part series viewing the Christmas event through the perspective of the House of Herod and the Greco-Roman world in which it occurred.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

The pale riders swung out of Jerusalem's Fountain gate at daybreak and took the road south descending along the Kidron valley and then winding back up the heights again toward Bethlehem.

Their armor rattled. Hoofbeats drummed a rough tattoo. The tramp of many boots on the chalky stone stirred up an ashen pall of dust.

A Tribune in plume-crested helmet rode at the head of a company of cavalrymen, followed by three chariots mounted with scythes and a cohort of 600 foot soldiers, equipped for combat.

But there were muttered oaths and grumbling among them. They headed on a vile mission—to massacre the male infants of a legend-steeped Jewish town south of the Judean capitol.

The Tribune knew the object of King Herod's fury—an unidentified toddler under two who was rumored as a promised divine champion of mankind, an emancipator of the fallen, the broken and the lost.

Bleak Despair

Certainly this oppressed land and other conquered provinces of the empire swarmed with the victims of defeat and bleak despair, the beggars and bloated children wailing on the wayside, the manacled slave caravans, the tyrannized, trampled populace.

But the king, a trucking cat's paw of Augustus Caesar, would have his further cargo of flesh—to eliminate this unknown child, this whispered savior of the world.

It was a messy business, this hard disciplining of the hoi polloi, in order to uphold the Pax Romana. And the despotic Herod went at it with a vengeance.

The Tribune's grip tightened though a bit sullen. He won-and other animals drank the less went on, unchallenged. And on his lance, held erect in its fender. The assignment wouldn't victim's blood, and a scorpion, debaucheries and perversions flourished in the cloisters of Ish.

Their bronze helmets, with the elaborate cheek pieces, and the pillaging, the taking of captives, the mutilation of male and female and observed as the birthday of halted, planning the disposition of his troops for the advance. The town, of about 5,000, stood on a ridge, 2,350 feet above sea level.

with things. Leather shields, affixed to wooden frames, swung from their shoulders. The detachment included archers, javelin throwers and swordsmen, also carrying battle-axes in addition to the horsemen, with their thrusting lances.

28 Legions

They were part of the 12th legion, garrisoned at Fort Antony, hard by the Jewish Temple. It was one of 28 legions of 68,000 men, mostly assorted mercenaries, that policed the empire's 30 provinces from Spain to the Arabian Sea.

Herod had four Roman legions of 24,000 men, the third, sixth, 10th and 12th, made up largely of Germans, Gauls, Thracians and Samaritans, to keep this insurgent Judean territory under control.

The natives turned their backs and spat whenever a legionnaire went by.

They were an unsubmitive lot, these Jews, refusing to venerate the Roman ensign, or the imperial gods, resenting the law that permitted any Roman soldier to impress them into portage duty, on any occasion.

But refusal meant death or torture. There had to be strict measures, the Tribune assumed, to keep a subject race responsive to its masters. As a member of Rome's equestrian class, he judged that rank must always enforce its prerogatives.

It was about 50 stadia (six miles) from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, situated on a rise just off the main highway leading to the Hebron farther to the south.

As the cohort progressed, the Tribune left his forward post and rode back along the line of march, checking it, taking the salutes of the centurions in their cape-like orange sagums.

Appeared Sullen

Swinging their "virtus" staffs of command, one strode alongside each of the six centuries of footmen.

The Tribune reached the rear echelon, and spun about, galloping back to his position. The out-bull, while dogs, serpents, birds, fit seemed in order and ready.

David's Tower is near the Jaffa Gate entrance to the old walled city of Jerusalem. The heavy stone building dates back to the days of Herod the Great.

For over 3,000 years this area has been the main entrance to the walled city, and there always have been fortifications on the site.

When it was finished, and the blood-smeared troops returned, they brought word of a couple that had fled the town the night before for Egypt, a carpenter and his wife, with a small child named "Yeshua" or "Jesus," meaning the "Salvation of God."

"Whoever is most expedient, or simply run them through. That should be sufficient. But make certain they're dead. If you encounter trouble, some opposition, have a bowman put up a fireball. I'll be there." He pointed to a nearby hilltop.

The officers returned to their units, which deployed toward their separate sectors as the column moved up the slope. The Tribune, with the horsemen and chariots, headed to their vantage point on a hill.

He planted the ensign there and watched, the silence heavy as the three wings closed in on the town, then the faint, desperate screams borne on the breeze, swelling to a steady, piercing wail.

mented," he groaned. "The Jews will make a festival upon my death. But I have the power to compel them to mourn at it, on whatever account, as betis a king."

To insure it, he ordered the city's chief Jewish noblemen, already confined in the hippodrome, slain by arrows from archers stationed around the arena immediately upon notice of his death, and also that his legions kill one member of each native family.

"Then all Judea, and every family of them, will weep at my death, whether they will or not," he said, panting for breath, his eyes opaque and staring.

He died in screams in 4 B.C., at the age of 70 at his winter palace in Jericho, the bounds that pursued him still at his bedside. "A man he was of great barbarity to all men equally," wrote the historian Flavius Josephus. "He stole the throne like a fox, ruled like a tiger and died like a dog."

His will bestowed 10 million drachmae and vessels of gold on Augustus Caesar, and divided his kingdom among three sons, Antipas, Philip and Archelaus, survivors among the 10 sons and five daughters of his 10 wives. He had slain five sons, including those of his only love, Miriamne, whom he also killed.

Buckley was asked to support the bill by Mayor Oswald H. Johnson of Black River Falls.

Buckley said he planned to notify Johnson of his support for the measure.

"I don't believe in extending any of our services beyond our city limits," Buckley said, and he added he believes the City Council will agree an ordinance to that effect is on the books in Appleton.

Buckley said he was confident that the council also would adopt the resolution he plans to submit.

Johnson explained that his city recently was issued orders by the state resource agency requiring Black River Falls to extend sewer service to a sanitary district adjoining the city's borders.

Johnson termed the orders "unconstitutional" and an attempt to "usurp the authority of municipalities." He said his city may have to challenge the orders in court, and if it loses the case, "it means one more step in the erosion of municipal authority."

But his final orders for more carnage were ignored. He was not even mourned by Augustus, who once called him, "confederate and friend," but who in the end remarked, "Better to have been Herod's hogs than his panoplies of Caesar, waxing ever stronger amid the dangers of earth, freeing, healing and spread domain of mighty legions and the glories and gods slaughtering against it.

Mayor Joins Fight Against Sewer Policy

A west-central Wisconsin city has asked Appleton and other cities to join a battle against the current Department of Natural Resources policy, and Mayor George Buckley says he supports the fight.

The Appleton mayor said he will bring a resolution before the City Council supporting a bill in the Legislature that is being urged for adoption by the city of Black River Falls.

The legislation, if adopted, would require that citizens in an unincorporated territory adjoining a city would have to petition for annexation before the city would be required to provide the territory with sanitary sewer service.

Buckley was asked to support the bill by Mayor Oswald H. Johnson of Black River Falls. Buckley said he planned to notify Johnson of his support for the measure.

"I don't believe in extending any of our services beyond our city limits," Buckley said, and he added he believes the City Council will agree an ordinance to that effect is on the books in Appleton.

Far to the East, a Star shone, and on that first Christmas Eve, its radiance beckoned the Magi to the Miracle of the Manger, there to worship and rejoice in the meaning of His message... "On earth peace, good will toward men." Wherever the wonder of Christmas shines today, may it hearten and inspire us, and may it light the way to peace and joy everlasting. To friends and patrons, many thanks.

Carve Styrofoam Into A non-Malting Snowman

BY CAPPY DICK

A block of styrofoam can be turned into a miniature snowman by carefully carving the material with a paring knife. Figure 2 shows what he will look like.

Select a block that is about the size of an ordinary building brick. On the broad, flat sides sketch with pencil the general outline of the snowman as suggested in figure 1. It is not necessary for the arms to be

When you have drawn the figure to your satisfaction, correcting anything you wish to change about his form, start carving. Cut away all parts of the block that are not needed. Start at the top of the hat. Next, carve the brim of the hat. Then the round face and head. You need not be particular about the features of the face because a real snowman does not have very clear-cut features. Carve the shoulders and arms next and finally carve the legs.

Use pen and black ink to draw the eyes, nose, mouth and buttons. If you prefer, you can press small beads into the styrofoam for those features. Place the completed snowman under the Christmas tree. After the holidays keep him in your own room as a novelty.

Slam Door On Wolf by Odd Finesse

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Every father must tell his daughter how to avoid the clutches of a wolf. At the same time he must teach her how to tell the difference between a wolf and a fair-haired boy. If you find this delicate task beyond your powers, clip out today's bridge column for your daughter to read when she's old enough.

Opening lead ♠ 7

West leads the seven of spades. East puts up the queen, and South wins with the king. Now South knows that East is the wolf and that West is the fair-haired boy.

If East is allowed to win a trick he will lead a spade, and then West will defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. That makes East a very dangerous fellow indeed.

If West is allowed to win a trick he cannot capture declarer's jack of spades, nor can West lead anything else that will do any damage. That makes West a very comfortable lad to have around.

Rules For Daughters

With this hand to help you, it's easy to formulate a rule for daughters: Trust yourself to the fair-haired boy, but slam the door on the wolf.

In this case, South should win the second trick with dummy's king of clubs in order to lead a low diamond from the dummy. East plays low, and a dutiful daughter should try a finesse with the nine of diamonds from the South hand.

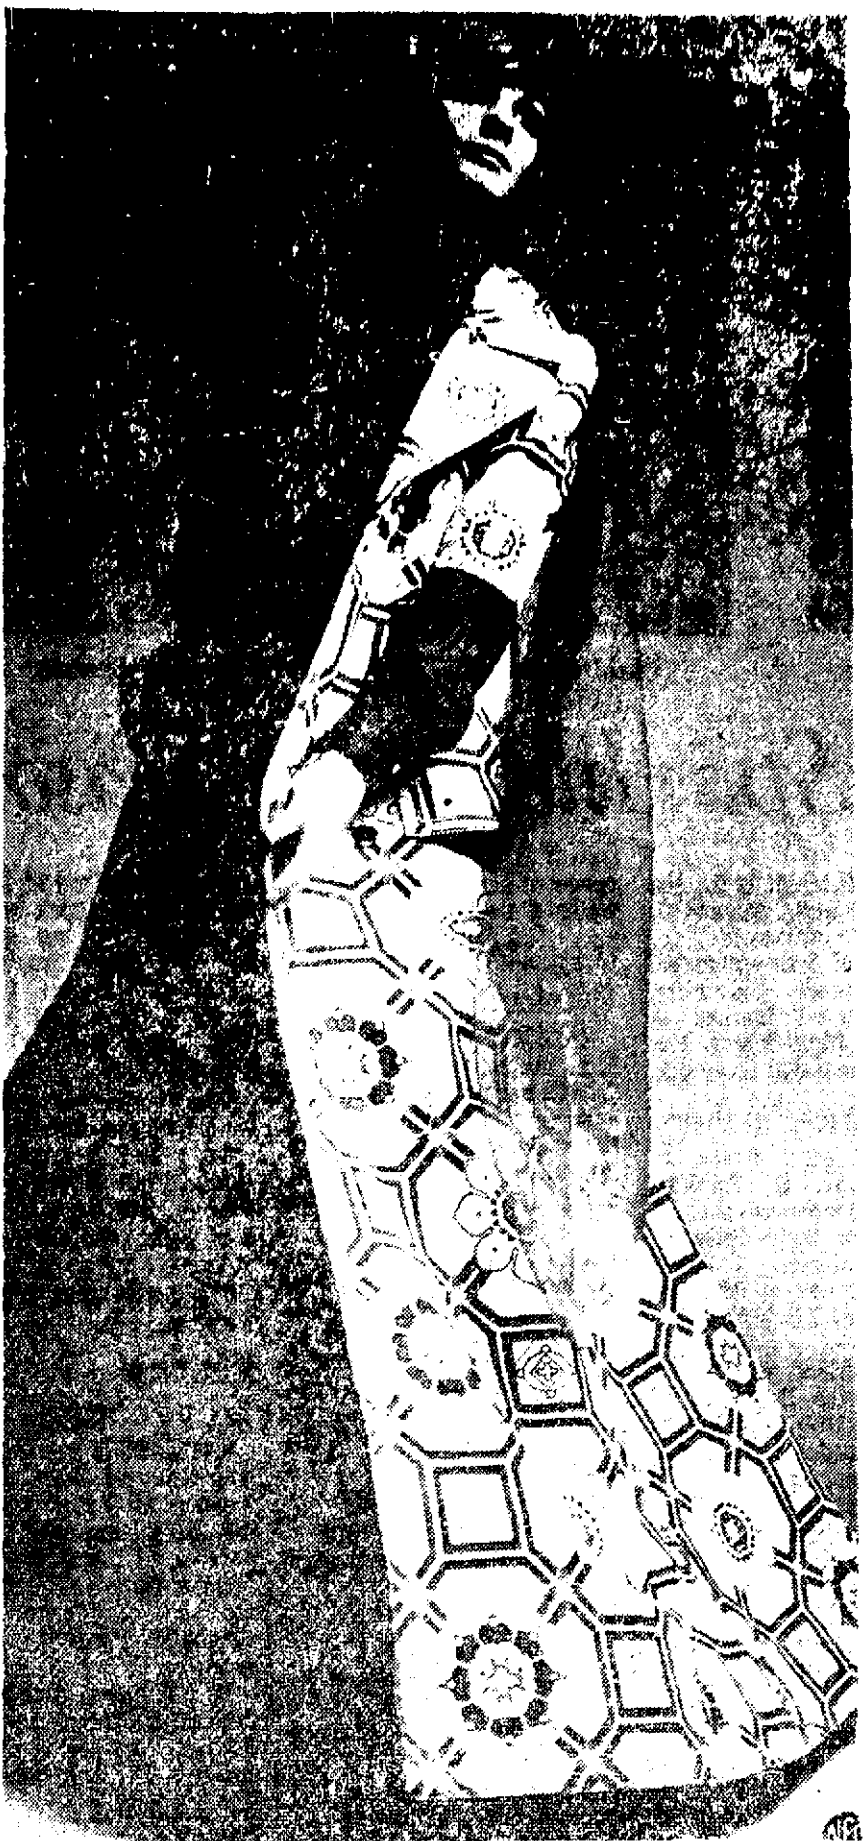

If this finesse should lose, it would go to the fair-haired lad in the West seat. No danger. When the finesse actually wins, South runs all of the diamonds, and takes the first 11 tricks.

If daughter played the diamonds normally, East would win a trick with the jack of diamonds. Then he would return a spade, laughing and twirling his mustache.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 9 5; H-Q J 8; D-J 7 6 5; C-Q J 9. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds or 1-NT. You have 9 points in high cards, but should treat your hand as a very weak responding hand since you have neither a king nor an ace. Avoid putting your faith in queens or jacks.

The purpose of this confession is to offer my sincere admiration for those people who can condense a 38-hour day into 24. I don't know how they do it. I spend all my time feeding animals. They're in for it. I only have 25 chickens, 28 ducks, two horses, a bowlful of fish, two box turtles, a white mouse and a skylit of wild birds.

Things run reasonably smoothly until we run out of food for one of them. Then the chain action starts.

"There's no food for the ducks," states my son.

"Give them the dog food."

"There won't be any left for the dogs."

Note Long Mufflers

An important fashion note for this season is the long, long muffler — some of them as long as six to eight feet. Care should be taken not only against the risk of losing one (as happens with mufflers each winter) but also of having the free-flying ends catch on something as you pass — or even stepping on one of the long ends and taking a tumble!

Your Problems

Writers Praise, Criticize Legal Abortion

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was the father of my child. I was shocked by your seemingly approval of legal abortions. I have you taken leave of your senses? Don't you realize that I have you taken leave of your moral guidance? Our priest has on occasion, used your column as a basis for his sermon. I am happy he was in Rome when that particular column appeared. He would have been very disappointed.

These are trying times in which to keep one's values straight. People need something to cling to. You have always been a staunch supporter of old-fashioned morality. What happened? Please don't shake our faith by coming out for some thing that is against our religion. There are over 46 million Catholics in this country and we believe abortion is murder. We count on you. Don't let us down. — A Mother in Massachusetts

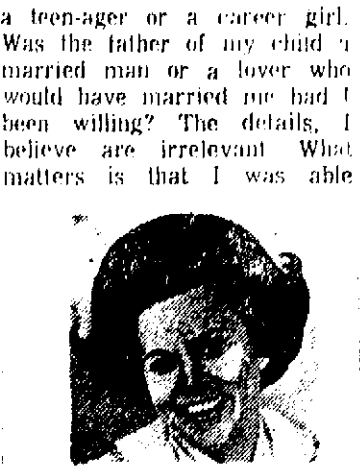

Dear Mother: I would not recommend abortion for a devout Catholic — or for that matter, anyone whose religion teaches that abortion is murder. For women who believe this, the guilt resulting from an abortion could produce serious emotional problems.

As many Catholic theologians agree, religious law should not be the basis for civil law. There are millions of women who do not view abortion as murder and these women should not be subjected to backroom, kitchen-table butchery. Thousands of married women as well as single girls die every year because the law has driven them to attic hideouts and motel room surgery.

I hope you will read the next letter. It represents another point of view:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm glad you had the courage to come out and say the abortion laws are unjust, archaic and should be sharply amended. I had an abortion two days ago so I speak from experience. Fortunately I live in Kansas where therapeutic abortions are legal. In this state, if two physicians sign a statement saying the birth of a child would be detrimental to a woman's physical or mental health, she can be aborted in a hospital. The price is $500. It is painless and safe.

Many of your readers will probably wonder about the details of my particular case — whether I am married or single.

I am happy he was in Rome when that particular column appeared. He would have been very disappointed.

Dear Lawrence: Hooray for Kansas! And you can add Colorado and a few others. At this writing, at least a dozen states are in the process of trying to liberalize their laws on abortion and I say the revision is long overdue. I believe that no woman, married or single, should be forced by the government to

Keep Track of Belts, Buttons

As you've been hearing and seeing, there's a strong trend to wearing bells on sports jackets, outercoats and raincoats. It's good fashion and you'll probably like it, but here's a warning: be careful not to lose your belt. They can be as elusive as men's mufflers, of which tens of thousands are lost each winter. Check the buttons on your clothes periodically. If any are loose, have them tightened. It's easier than trying to find matching replacements.

Betty Furness Criticizes Appliance Repair Policies

Betty Furness, the consumer affairs expert who used to sell home appliances on television today criticized the repair policies of makers of refrigerators and washing machines, calling for action by consumers to convince appliance manufacturers "they must be concerned" about repairs of their old models.

In her first column in the current issue of McCall's, Miss Furness struck out at the "whole gray area of appliance repairs," as well as at manufacturers for allowing older models to become obsolete by discontinuing spare parts.

It's logical to assume that if your washing machine isn't working, a call to your dealer or a note to the manufacturer will produce results," said Miss Furness. "But often that time print says the manufacturer is responsible for repairs only if you send the item back to the plant."

That may work with a meat thermometer, but it's tough with a washing machine she commented.

Miss Furness, the former special assistant in charge of consumer affairs under the Johnson Administration, also argued that "refrigerators, stoves and dishwashers shouldn't have to be subject to the vagaries of fashion."

A refrigerator should be allowed to live as long as it's able to refrigerate, and not have to be thrown away just because key parts are out of stock, she said. "We must convince manufacturers that if they must bring out new models every year they must also be concerned about their old ones."

Miss Furness maintained that "we consumers have more power than most of us have ever realized. Our power is purchasing power, and properly applied or judiciously withheld, it can work wonders."

If you get mad enough at any company to stop using its product, tell that company about your decision," she advised in her column. "It won't do any good if you and all your neighbors decide to boycott Aunt Gladys' Raisin Cookies because they don't have enough raisins in them unless you also tell Aunt Gladys. Otherwise the company thinks its message isn't getting through and instead of putting more raisins in its cookies will put more money in its advertising."

Lime Build-Up Shortens Life Of Appliances

If your steam iron putters out spots, or it just isn't operating efficiently, it may be clogged with lime deposits. This is especially true in hard water areas where minerals in the water will leave deposits in appliances that use steam such as vaporizers, tea kettles, sterilizers, egg cookers, baby bottle warmers, and of course, steam irons.

There are two ways to protect appliances from lime build-up which can ruin them or even make them dangerous to use. Use distilled water or demineralize tap water. Even in areas where the water is considered soft minerals will eventually build up. In addition a cleaner that removes lime deposits should be used before they build up and can't be removed.

With regular use and by following the simple instructions, your iron and other steam appliances will be kept free of harmful mineral deposits. These products are available at appliance service centers, most supermarkets, and leading department, discount and hardware stores.

Walnut Remains Top Choice in Furniture

If you prefer walnut furniture, congratulate yourself on picking a solid winner.

It's been the prestige furniture and paneling material for centuries. And today it retains that envied position in a world of competing products, including substitute materials which pay it the supreme compliment of imitation.

Two widely divergent 1969 surveys have pointed up walnut's sustained popularity. One was a market study of leading furniture and department stores in 30 states, reported in Home Furnishings. Daily trade journal of the home furnishings industry.

The other was a survey of the 2,060 bedroom and dining room suites exhibited at the summer International Home Furnishings Market in Chicago.

Tops in Modern Style
The first study conducted by the Market Research Department of Fairchild Publications showed that walnut is by far the leading wood in both modern and Scandinavian modern furniture.

It is the best seller among 93 per cent of stores reporting on modern furniture according to the survey. The next best seller was pecan, mentioned by only 5 per cent.

In Scandinavian modern, walnut was mentioned as the best seller by 83 per cent of the retailers reporting. Teak was a distant second, termed the best seller by 11 per cent.

Seventy-six per cent of the respondents said walnut was the best seller in contemporary furniture. Pecan ranked second being named as the top seller by 23 per cent.

Pecan and oak were leaders in Spanish furniture while cherry and fruitwood topped the list in formal French, French provincial and Italian provincial styles. Maple was dominant in early American.

Leader at Market
The survey of the summer furniture market in Chicago revealed that walnut held its long-established position as the wood most in evidence among bedroom and dining room suites displayed.

It was shown in 34 suites or 66 per cent of the total.

This was a 11 per cent gain over its representation at the June, 1968 market. Pecan was a close second with 16.3 per cent of the suites and maple was third with 14.3 per cent.

Check Hangtags For Instructions To Clean Leather

Whether you buy real or simulated leather garments this year, be sure the attached hangtags tell you how to care for them. If you know how to care for them before you buy, you may avoid a costly mistake.

If the hangtag says the genuine leather garment is washable, it should tell how to wash and dry it, says Ruth Diez, clothing specialist at the University of Wisconsin. Otherwise, you'd better send it to a cleaner who provides the required special leather cleaning process.

Simulated leathers are made either of expanded vinyl, which must be wet cleaned or wiped off, or of polyurethane coating, which can be drycleaned.

It's important to know what kind of leather the garment is made of. If you purchase a garment that needs drycleaning, but has trim that must be wet cleaned, you'll have a problem.

When you shop for leather garments, look for ones that have special oil- and soil-repellent treatments. The labels should tell if this has been done.

Most smooth and grained leathers may be cleaned by wiping them with damp cloth and mild soap. Dry and buff with a soft cloth.

Never use cleaning solvents on smooth or grained leathers because they tend to harden and discolor the leather. Also, avoid using shoe creams and saddle soaps on them.

If the leather becomes wet, allow it to dry at room temperature away from any artificial heat so the natural oils of the leather are retained.

Induced Sleep Is Paid for With Insomnia

CHICAGO — You may have to pay for tonight's induced sleep with tomorrow's insomnia.

In an editorial cautioning against a casual reliance on sleeping pills, the Journal of the American Medical Association suggests that "borrowed sleep" must eventually be repaid.

During a recent experiment, sleeping pills successfully induced quick, deep, longer than usual slumber for only 12 to 14 days. After that, tolerance developed and for the rest of the experiment, sleeping time shortened and threshing-about time lengthened.

After 26 days, the sleeping pills were withdrawn. It took 14 days without the soporific before a normal sleep pattern returned. For the first two pill-free nights, total sleep time fell abruptly.

Although the Journal described these sleep disturbances as "usually more uncomfortable than serious and generally self-limiting," the editorial issued a sharp warning against constantly sleeping up the dosage to forestall tolerance. In such cases, withdrawal symptoms can include possible convulsions.

State Industry Enjoys Record

1969 to Reach New High in Expansion, Plant Construction

MADISON (AP) — Palmer B. McConnell, administrator of the state Division of Economic Development, says Wisconsin enjoyed a record year of industrial development in 1969, according to preliminary figures released Monday.

McConnell told Gov. Warren P. Knowles the final tally of new plants and expansions during 1969 would be 450, compared with the previous high of 421 last year.

McConnell said he expected new plant construction to reach about 8,500,000 square feet, compared with 7,552,265 square feet in 1968. He said other economic growth statistics showed that personal income was up 9.4 per cent, as estimated by business Week, against 8.7 per cent for the nation.

Manufacturing employment reached a record high of 531,000 persons, McConnell said, and employment in general averaged 1,820,000, or a gain of 2.5 per cent or 45,000 jobs over the previous year. Unemployment averaged 3.4 per cent of the labor force, slightly below 1968.

McConnell said construction continued on a "high level overall," despite a shortage of mortgage funds and high interest rates.

Council Formed to Push For Outagamie Executive

Bubolz, Rogers, Froehlich Head Group

An "Outagamie County Citizens for Good Government" Council has been formed to push for a new county executive. The group has set a deadline of Feb. 6 to acquire the copy of the petition also submitted to the County Board at its December session and needed signatures to force either included county.

Supv. G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton, is chairman; State Rep. William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, is vice chairman, and Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, is secretary-treasurer.

Bubolz said that the public would be asked to join the council by circulating petitions and obtaining at least 100 signatures each.

"We hope to organize a council of no less than 70 people," Bubolz said.

If they would succeed in having 70 people each obtain 100 signatures, the proponents of an elected county executive would exceed the requirement of having 6,333 signatures to force a referendum on the subject.

Forum Jan. 12 In conjunction with the drive, a forum will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 12 at the Home Mutual Insurance Co. building on Foster Avenue on the elected executive versus appointed administrator issue.

Bubolz said that Milwaukee County Executive John Doyle would discuss his job and answer questions. He added that they hoped to provide a pro and con discussion.

The forum will be jointly sponsored by the Good Government Council and the Appleton Jaycees, Bubolz said.

The Jan. 12 forum was planned to coincide with the Outagamie County Board meeting the next day, when supervisors are expected to debate the the Jan. 13 board meeting to Government Council's position issue. Resolutions pertaining to present them at that time (and containing an invitation to Council) has been formed to both forms of executive were. # Police Silent on Leads in Embassy Robbery-Slaying

There are no immediate plans investigating the possibility of any tie-in with other robberies and burglaries in the region. However, Fuller said this was normal procedure.

County Coroner Art C. Miller said it appeared that Frye was shot in a vehicle in which he traveled to the point off Winnebago County Trunk MM, 1 1/2 miles south of Zittau, where his body was found. Frye apparently was shot between 5 and 6:30 a.m. when his body was found by a passing motorist, Miller said.

Reward Offered

The Appleton Professional Policeman's Association has started a reward fund by contributing $200 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for Frank Frye's death. Donations to the fund should be sent to the trust department of the First National Bank, Appleton.

Fuller said Frye was shot at "extremely close range." He left the motel without his coat, and there were no signs of a struggle, authorities said. Zittau is about 20 miles from the Embassy.

Fuller would not comment on whether authorities felt the killer or killers had known Frye, but he said robbery appeared to be the motive. "It's quite obvious. The money is missing," he said.

Frye was shot in the abdomen box was unsuccessful. The safe and died of massive rupture of the abdominal aorta. Entry was gained by forcing a window on the east side of the building. Fresh snow covered a dead deer. All identification tracks that might have been removed but been left Danielson said.

Fuller said "If we do have some specific leads, I wouldn't want it to come out at this time anyway."

The sheriff's department has been joined by the Appleton Police Department in the investigation into the shooting death of Frank Frye, 63, 519 Douglas St., Appleton, a night clerk at the Embassy Motor Lodge, and the robbery of $263 from the motel cash register.

Fuller said the two departments were questioning "lots of people, everybody we can get a hold of."

A statewide alert has been sent out, and authorities are

A Taste of Giving

Christmas Shop Is 'For Kids Only'

BY CLIFF MILLER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

You can get your mother a psychedelic feather duster or a box of colored bath oil beads that look like "peerie" marbles.

For Dad they have tools and if he's playful, "Hot Wheels" toy racers.

They also have reading glasses for Grandma and plastic canes filled with candy for Grandpa. You can find stuff for your brother or sister, too, and for the Christmas party at school.

And its hard to tell who has more fun picking things out — the customers or the clerks.

The sign over the door says "For Children Only." It's not an absolute ban to grownups, but the low-slung doorway keeps the older shoppers to a minimum.

The H. C. Prange Co. has operated the shop in its downtown Appleton department store for several years.

Low Counters

It's a small, temporary room, maybe 15 by 20 feet. Counters are extra-low for the shortest shopper. Clerks are careful with their elbows, which are about nose-high on most customers, and at the peak of the Christmas rush there have been as many as 50 small people milling about the room at once.

Up the escalator a flight or two reigns Santa, his knees by now worn thin from the press of pleading pilgrims.

Down here is the other side of a child's Christmas Giving is spoken here.

Nancy Rickert, a Xavier High School junior, and Anne Brannen, a senior at Appleton West, have worked in the shop since it opened the day after Thanksgiving.

Their customers generally range up to about age 13. Sometimes mothers come along, but most kids come in alone.

"They usually have a dollar for each gift," said one of the clerks, and they normally have under $5 to spend. "We've had them with up to $30, though," said Anne.

"Their money is usually so warm," said Nancy. Anne laughed, "And wet, too."

First Shopping

For many of them, it is the first experience shopping. That experience is one reason some parents send them in.

"It's also a good sitter service," said Nancy. There has only been one case of a "lost mother" who took too long to claim her offspring and had to be paged, however.

Styles of shopping vary widely. There was the little boy who marched in, scarcely paused to make choices as he scooped up

Tax Bills Set For Grand Chute

Tax bills for residents of the Town of Grand Chute will be mailed the weekend after Christmas, according to Town Treasurer Eugene Paltzer.

Bills must be paid in installments at the Outagamie County Courthouse by Feb. 28. Paltzer said, with the balance due July 31.

Neenah Police Seek Fact-Finding Aid For 1970 Contracts

NEENAH — Gordon Myse, 10 have been turned over to a bargaining agent for the Neenah Professional Policemen's Association, has petitioned the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) to start fact-finding proceedings in the contract negotiations with the city.

In his petition to the WERC, Myse said the negotiations are deadlocked and, "Although the parties have been meeting for approximately six months, they have reached an impasse and have been unable to negotiate an employment contract for the year 1970."

Two city offers since August have been unanimously rejected by the police department. The latest offer, according to Mayor Donald Hassler, and Paul Mueller, finance committee chairman, was based on the recently adopted personnel classification and compensation study, drafted by Griffenhagen-Kroeger, Chicago.

Negotiator
The city, faced with negotiations not only with the police department but the fire department, cemetery workers, water works employees and four maintenance personnel in the police department, last week voted to hire Donald VanderKelen, Green Bay, a professional negotiator.

The fact-finding petition was dated Dec. 18, the day after the city council voted to hire VanderKelen.

According to Morris Slavney, WERC chairman, the petition does not mean the negotiations will go to a fact-finder. "We will appoint one of our staff to handle the preliminary investigation," he said this morning.

He explained that the WERC representative will try to set up a meeting with both parties to see if the issue should be handed over to a fact-finder.

15 Requests
Slavney also pointed out that his department has been flooded with petitions for fact-finding. "We have already had 15 requests this month and we expect it to reach 20," he said. At the present time, 33 cases being investigated by the WERC and

Town Eyes Stone Vein

MENASHA — The Town of Menasha may be going into the gravel business if soil borings at the Town dump indicate that it might be a profitable proposition.

Frederick Miller, east side supervisor, Monday night asked for authorization to take the tests at the dump to see if a subsurface gravel vein would be worth mining.

"We have run into some first class stone out there and there may be a large vein running across the dump ground. I think we should spend the money to check it out," Miller said.

The town has sold about 10,000 yards of a lower grade stone from the site but if the No. 1 stone is found it could mean about $1.40 per yard, compared to the 25 cents the town is getting for the lower grade.

Miller suggested taking the tests so "We don't cover up the good gravel with garbage," he said.

Building Permit For Addition to Hospital Issued

KAUKAUNA — A building permit for an addition to Kaukauna Community Hospital was issued Monday to DeCoster Construction Co., Green Bay, by Building Inspector Harold Loeser.

The 2-story wing is to be located at the northeast corner of the present building and general construction cost was listed at $192,582. Architect for the building is S. J. Baisch and Associates, Kaukauna.

The 84 by 42 foot addition will permit adding 10 beds and enlarge the lobby, office and storage area. The dining room at the hospital will be enlarged and dining facilities improved through the addition. A fund drive to help finance construction is currently underway.

Northeast Planners' Help Offered in Housing Work

Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission will assist in providing housing in areas where there are critical shortages, Rieckmann said. The commission's long-range housing program will be ready in about five years and project needs through 1980.

However, he said he is concentrating on the short range now and already can provide much technical assistance, particularly to local housing authorities. This is a key role for the planned agencies, Rieckmann said, noting their advisory capacity.

Rieckmann, who believes a long-range program to the year 2000 would be impractical, is being assisted by a citizens' technical advisory committee of residents from the commission's nine county members.

Town Beer License OK'd

MENASHA — Following a general town meeting Monday night, the Menasha town board granted a license to sell beer to a restaurant at Midway Road and U.S. 10.

John Patch, co-owner of Mr. Steak, had requested the license because, "It is hard to operate without serving beer," he said.

"Nine out of 10 people in the United States drink and only 25 per cent eat out," he said, pointing to the need for a restaurant to sell intoxicating beverages.

No one appeared to oppose the license and the only questioning came from Frederick Miller, east side supervisor, who asked what age limit Patch planned to place on serving the beer.

"The beer will be served along with our food business," Patch explained. "And we plan to restrict it to 21-year-olds."

Winnebago Committee Objects to Referendum Terminal Bonding

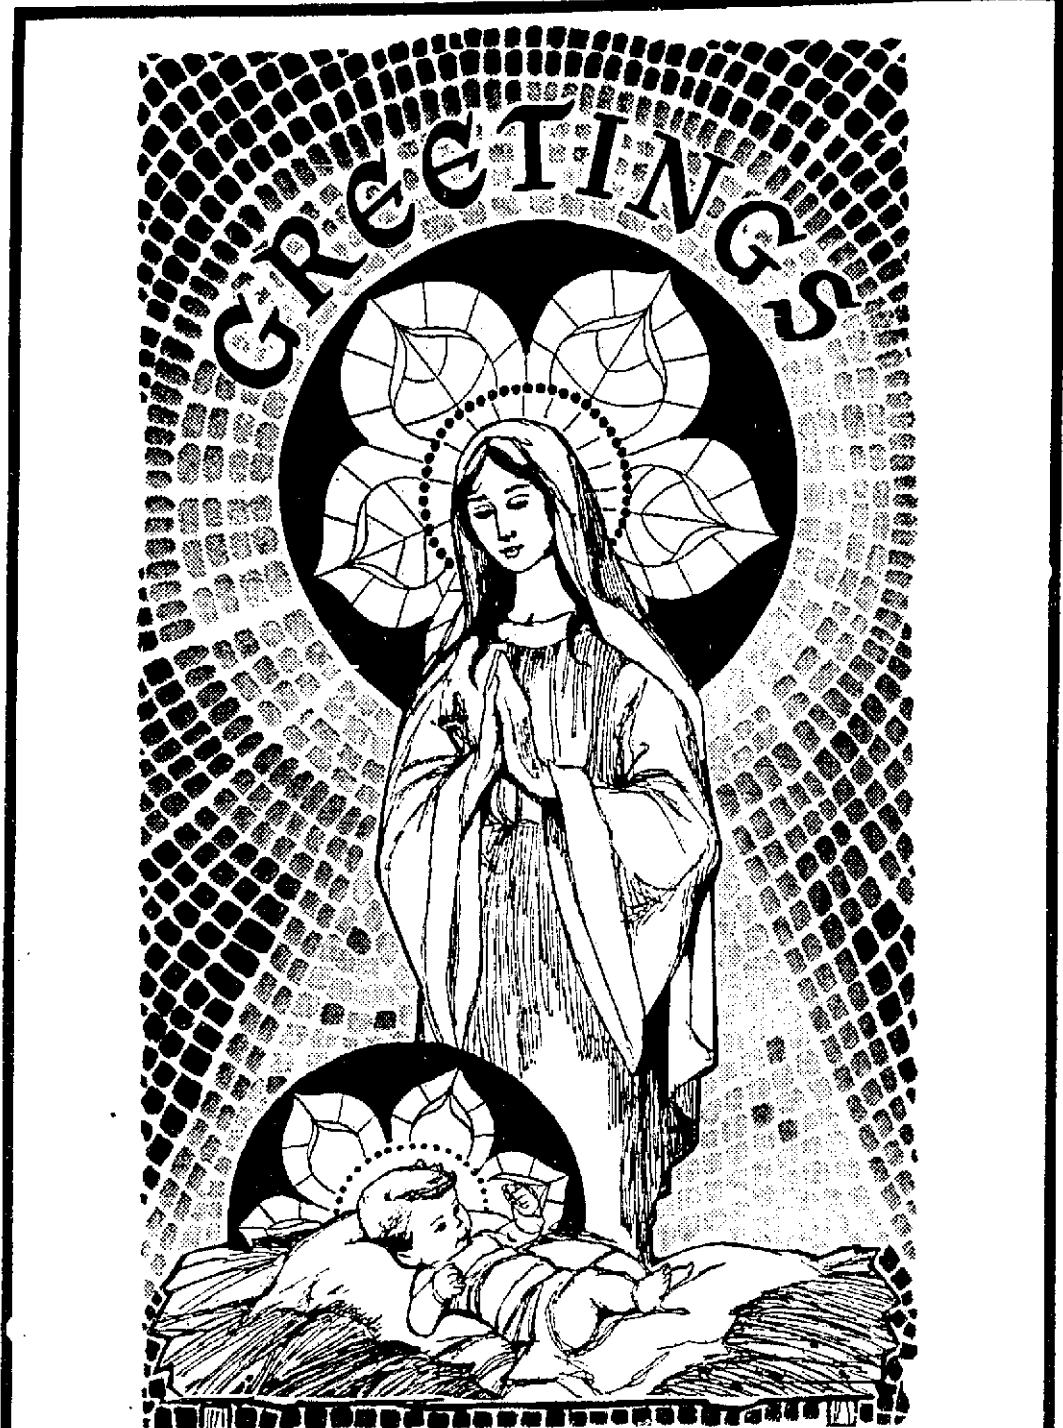

OSHKOSH — Discussion of a public referendum on a bond issue financing for a new Wittman Field terminal is premature at this time, Winnebago County aviation committee members indicated Monday.

The committee indicated it will oppose the current referendum move, slated to be brought before the county board next Tuesday, and will ask that consideration be delayed until after a Jan. 13 meeting of the committee with North Central Airline officials and architects.

Tentative plans for a $2.89 million terminal facility are eight months old and require re-evaluation in terms of needs forecast at that time, Michael T. Brock, airport manager, said.

According to Brock, the Jan. 13 meeting already has been scheduled for that purpose.

Three Winnebago County supervisors announced last week they will seek county board action at a Dec. 30 special meeting to put airport terminal financing to a public referendum.

May the celebration of His Day bring peace to the hearts of people everywhere. Our sincere wishes to you and yours for the Merriest Christmas ever.

Grateful thanks for your loyalty and confidence.

The thief took only part of the money, Nepp said. Frye's death is Winnebago's first murder in over six years. In June, 1963, a service station attendant was stabbed to death at the intersection of U.S. 41 and 45 west of Oshkosh. Frye, who was married and had two married daughters who live in Appleton, joined the Appleton Police Department in 1937 and retired as a detective sergeant in 1959. He had been employed by the Embassy for about a year. Funeral services will begin at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the First United Methodist Church with burial in Highland Memorial Cemetery.

Drivers Get Free Coffee For Holidays

Area law enforcement agencies today urged holiday travelers to make a "coffee safety stop."

The coffee safety stop program is a nationwide effort by safety groups and thousands of restaurant operators who have volunteered to serve free coffee to travelers during peak traffic hours of the holiday season.

Participating restaurants, including several in the Fox River Valley, will display a special free coffee safety break sign.

Cooperating in the national accident prevention effort are the International Chiefs of Police Association, the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, the Coffee Information Service, the National Restaurant Association and the International Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association.

The free coffee break program will be in effect through Jan. 4.

Police said they feel coffee rest stops can help reduce the holiday traffic toll. The effectiveness of the rest break in offsetting driver fatigue is well known and has long been recommended as basic to safe driving, police explain.

The snow will fall on 1.21 inches of snow which fell Monday.

Christmas carolers will face nearly the same conditions this year as during a record-breaking December snowfall last year.

Records show snow levels at 11.7 inches last year. A total of 13.7 inches of snow has fallen this year.

Heavy snow started pelted the Fox River Valley on Dec. 26 last year, piling up to record levels.

The 28.1 inch total reached Dec. 31 exceeded records for Appleton established in Dec. 1926 when 20.5 inches was listed, according to Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. statistics.

Normally shovelers face only 8.3 inches of December snow in Appleton, officials noted.

Obeys to Head New Youth Commission

WASHINGTON — Rep. David Obey (D-Wis.) has been named chairman of a newly created Youth Participation Commission of the Democratic National Committee by Sen. Fred R. Harris, (D-Okla.), Democratic national chairman.

The new committee is to make recommendations in three areas, according to Harris. "I have asked the commission to recommend how the Democratic National Committee can strengthen and expand the role of the Young Democratic Clubs of America in party affairs, and also to recommend concerning the College Young Democrats and the Teen Young Democrats," Harris said.

"I have asked the commission to make recommendations for greater involvement of young people in activities of the Democratic party itself, as well as through established party youth organizations," he said.

The commission will submit its final report by March 15 and may make interim recommendations.

7 Post-Crescent Carriers To Attend Cotton Bowl Tilt

Winners in a month long subscription contest sponsored by The Post-Crescent will spend a four-day holiday in Dallas, Tex. and attend the Cotton Bowl game, according to Erben Krueger, circulation manager.

The seven carrier boys will leave from Chicago's O'Hare Field, Dec. 30, and return on Jan. 2 from Dallas. While there, they will stay at the Statler Hilton Hotel between sight-seeing tours of the city, the Cotton Bowl parade and the game, featuring Notre Dame and the University of Texas.

Contest winners are Bryan Noak, Clinterville; Scott Helein, Menasha; Lyle VandenHeuvel, Kimberly; Paul Rathack, Appleton; Rick Vanevenhoven, Neenah, and Jim Zwicky, Oshkosh. Vernon Fuerst, district manager, will chaperone the boys on the trip.

Examination Dates Set In State Math Contest

Feb. 5 and March 14 are the dates set for preliminary and final mathematics contest examinations for Wisconsin high school students.

The mathematics contest, sponsored by the Wisconsin section of the Mathematical Association of America, helps to identify and encourage Wisconsin high school students with mathematical aptitude.

Information is being mailed this week to high school principals and mathematics teachers concerning registration procedures. Further information is available from Committee chairman Professor Arthur Brownell, Cowley Hall, La Crosse State University, La Crosse, Wis. 54601.

Police to Boost Air Patrol Fund

The Appleton Professional Police Association will present a $150 check to the Fox Cities Air Patrol to aid the group's building fund. The presentation will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Outagamie County Airport's air patrol building.

The association is donating the funds to emphasize the work the group of teen-agers has done, according to Sgt. James Cotter. The group needed help with their building, he said, and the police association felt they should "get in there and let people know the good" they have done. The air patrol has aided the police department in a number of rescue missions, he added.

UCLA's No. 1 Assistant Signs 3-Year Badger Contract

Jardine Predicts He Will Quickly Produce Winning UW Team

By ARTHUR S. SRB
MADISON (AP) — John Jardine, an assistant UCLA football coach and former star lineman at Purdue, was named head coach at the University of Wisconsin Monday and predicted he will quickly produce a winning team.

He declared confidently the "task of returning Wisconsin to a national power does not frighten me."

Jardine was tapped by athletic director Elroy Hirsch to fill a vacancy created by the ouster of John Coatta, who was fired after a dismal 3-26-1 record over three years.

Wisconsin has not had a winning football season since 1963. Asked about his vow to produce a winner soon, Jardine said "I certainly wouldn't be sitting here today if I didn't believe we were going to win."

Jardine, 34, who was an offensive and defensive lineman at Purdue in 1956 and 1957, later became a top high school coach in the Chicago area.

51-6-1 Record

In five years at Fenwick, in suburban Oak Park, Ill., his teams compiled a 51-6-1 record, capturing four Catholic League sectional championships, two Catholic League crowns and a prep bowl title in 1962.

Jardine's successes in the Chicago area and the contacts he has retained there were big factors in the decision to hire him, Hirsch said, calling Chicago an important field for Wisconsin player recruitment.

After his successful stint as a high school coach, Jardine coached the Purdue line in 1964. He joined UCLA coach Tommy Prothro's staff in 1965, and eventually became his No. 1 assistant.

In Jardine's five years on the UCLA staff, the Uclans won 35, lost 13 and tied 3.

Hirsch said the first word on Jardine's availability came from Prothro shortly after Coatta's firing was announced.

In Los Angeles, Prothro said Hirsch chose well.

"I always hate to lose a good coach, but that's the way it ought to be," Prothro said.

The new Badger coach was signed to a three-year contract, effective Jan. 1, at $20,000 the first year. The salary can be adjusted in subsequent seasons, athletic board chairman Fred Haberman explained.

John Jardine

Looks Weary

"I'm very pleased that the search is over," said a weary-looking Hirsch, who had started his quest for a new coach in earnest Dec. 2, the evening Coatta was fired.

"I checked out John very thoroughly," Hirsch said of Jardine.

A week ago, Hirsch met privately with about 25 black athletes who had voiced concerns about possible quotas on black athletes and prejudicial attitudes of prospective coaches.

Hirsch at that time assured the blacks there was no quota, and that he would screen coaching prospects concerning racial attitudes.

Asked if he had a coaching philosophy about unrest among ball players, Jardine replied "We're going to have a football team. We're going to have togetherness. I anticipate no problems in regards to uprisings."

Wisconsin's annual football team banquet in 1968 was boycotted by all 18 Negro players who later submitted a list of grievances to Coatta and the athletic board.

Questioned about his attitude on long hair and moustaches, Jardine said such issues "will be taken up with coaches and the players. Those are things we'll handle with the team."

At UCLA, Jardine explained, "we allowed players to wear moustaches and sideburns that were a certain length."

As for long hair, Jardine said: "I believe the helmet protects the head and ought to be as close to the head as possible."

Jardine said his coaching philosophy is similar to that of Prothro and his coach at Purdue, Jack Mollenkopf.

"I feel that my head coaching experience and the opportunity to work under Jack Mollenkopf and Tommy Prothro have prepared me for the position as head coach at Wisconsin," Jardine said.

"The task of returning Wisconsin to a national power does not frighten me," he added. "This may sound like an old cliché, but I'm confident in my ability to coach and handle young men."

Like busy shoppers searching for last-minute gifts, six Fox Valley area basketball teams have some unfinished business to attend to as they wind up pre-Christmas activity in games tonight.

Hoping to provide their coaches with presents of victory, include quintets from Appleton West, Neenah, Kaukauna, Little Chute St. John, Appleton Xavier and Menasha St. Mary.

West, leading the Fox River Valley Conference with a 6-4 mark, plays host to Oshkosh (2-4) in one key tilt. Runnerup Neenah (5-1), whose only loss came to the Terrors the first outing of the season, journeys to Green Bay West (3-3).

Another FRVC club, Fond du Lac (4-2), has a non-league date at Kaukauna. The Ghosts are 3-2 in Mid-Eastern Conference play.

In two of four contests on the Fox Valley Catholic Conference schedule, Xavier (2-3) entertains St. John (3-3) and St. Mary (0-5) challenges the circuit's current top team, De Pere Abbot Pennings (4-1), on the Squires' floor.

A smattering of non-conference games involving Fox Cities teams is also on the docket after Christmas. Friday night, St. Mary hits the road to Marshfield Columbus, and Saturday night, Appleton East visits Kimberly and Manitowoc invades Menasha.

Appleton West will be favored to run its league win streak to seven and overall skein to eight, against Oshkosh, although the Indians could cause trouble.

While West was getting past Fond du Lac, 59-54, in its most recent encounter, Oshkosh was dropping a 50-46 decision to Appleton East.

Boss Terror Scorers

Big guns for the Terrors continue to be juniors Rich Reitzner and Tim Moriarty, who combined for 38 points against Fondy — 26 of them by Reitzner. Mike Flanigan and Mark Luther lead the Indians into action after 14- and 8-point performances, respectively, against the Patriots.

Ron Emerson's Neenah outfit guns for a sixth straight win and should get it at the expense of the Wildcats. The Rockets are coming off an 81-72 conquest of Manitowoc, while the Cats knocked off rival Green Bay East, 46-44.

Pat Hawley and John Arpin loom the Rockets' top threats. The former hit 21 points in beating Manty and Arpin exploded for 26, his best output of the year. Randy Slye, one of the FRVC's leading point-makers, heads the Wildcat attack. He had an off night with a 12-point effort against East, but teammate Bob Kimble picked up the slack with 16.

Fondy and Kaukauna will both be anxious to bounce back after losses last Friday. The Ghosts

Need Help at Tight End Comeback, Attitude In Last 2 Games Was Pleading to Bengtson

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packers' 1969 fortunes, needless to say, did not match Phil Bengtson's expectations.

But the Pack's head coach and general manager, informally assessing the just concluded season Monday in his Lombardi Avenue offices, was able to pinpoint one positive development.

"The only thing that pleased me," he said, "was the performance in the last two games. The comeback by the club (closing victories over the Chicago Bears and St. Louis Cardinals) and a positive attitude were encouraging."

"I thought the attitude was excellent under the conditions because it would have been pretty easy to slough off. I'm hoping that this will carry over to next season."

Notch Higher

"My biggest disappointment was not winning any big games. We look care of everybody below us in the standings, but when we came up against a team a notch higher than us we didn't do the job."

"The biggest disappointment of all was the second Detroit game. We should have won that one. And the second biggest was not winning the second Minnesota game. The Baltimore game was pretty disappointing, too."

"We had opportunities in all three and didn't capitalize on them. If we had taken advantage of just one opportunity in each of those games, it would have made it an entirely different season."

What he was asked, must the Packers do to become contenders in 1970?

Coming Close

"We've got to win the big games instead of coming close," Bengtson replied with alacrity.

Does he feel the personnel available is sufficient to turn the trick? He replied, "Anybody could use more personnel, of course, but I'm satisfied that our personnel is adequate."

"The important thing is that, to win a championship, you can't be just a little better than the other teams, you've got to be a lot better. You're going to win a game on a fluke now and then, but you can't count on it. You have to be head and shoulders above the rest."

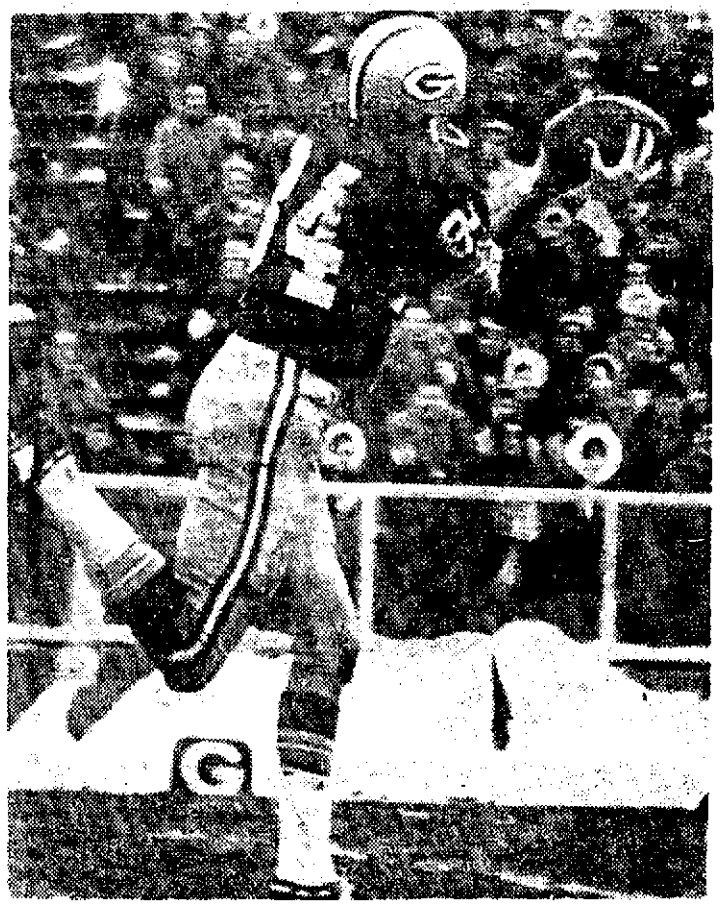

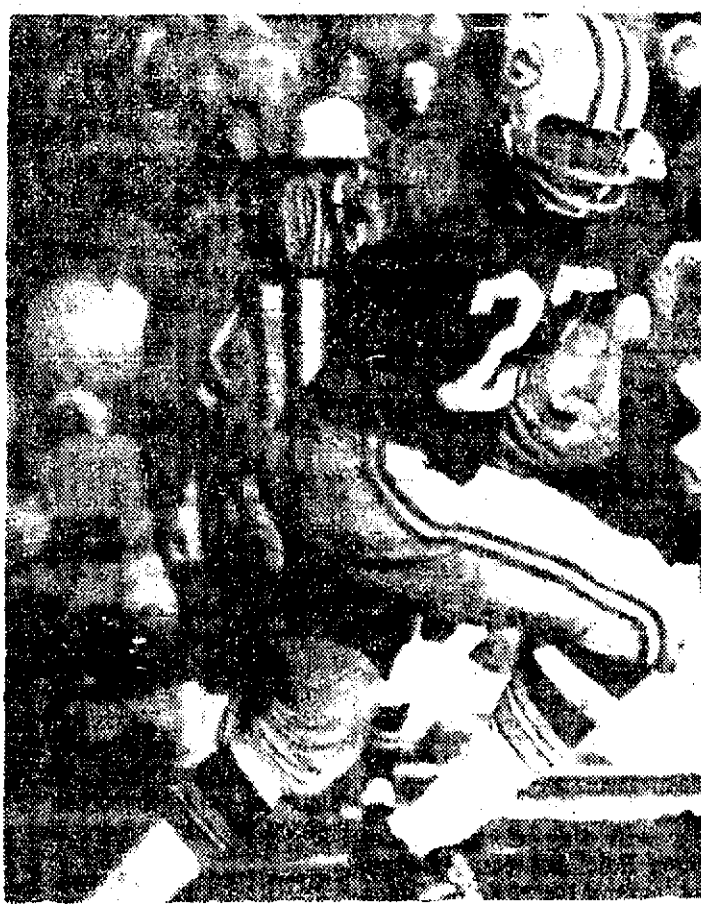

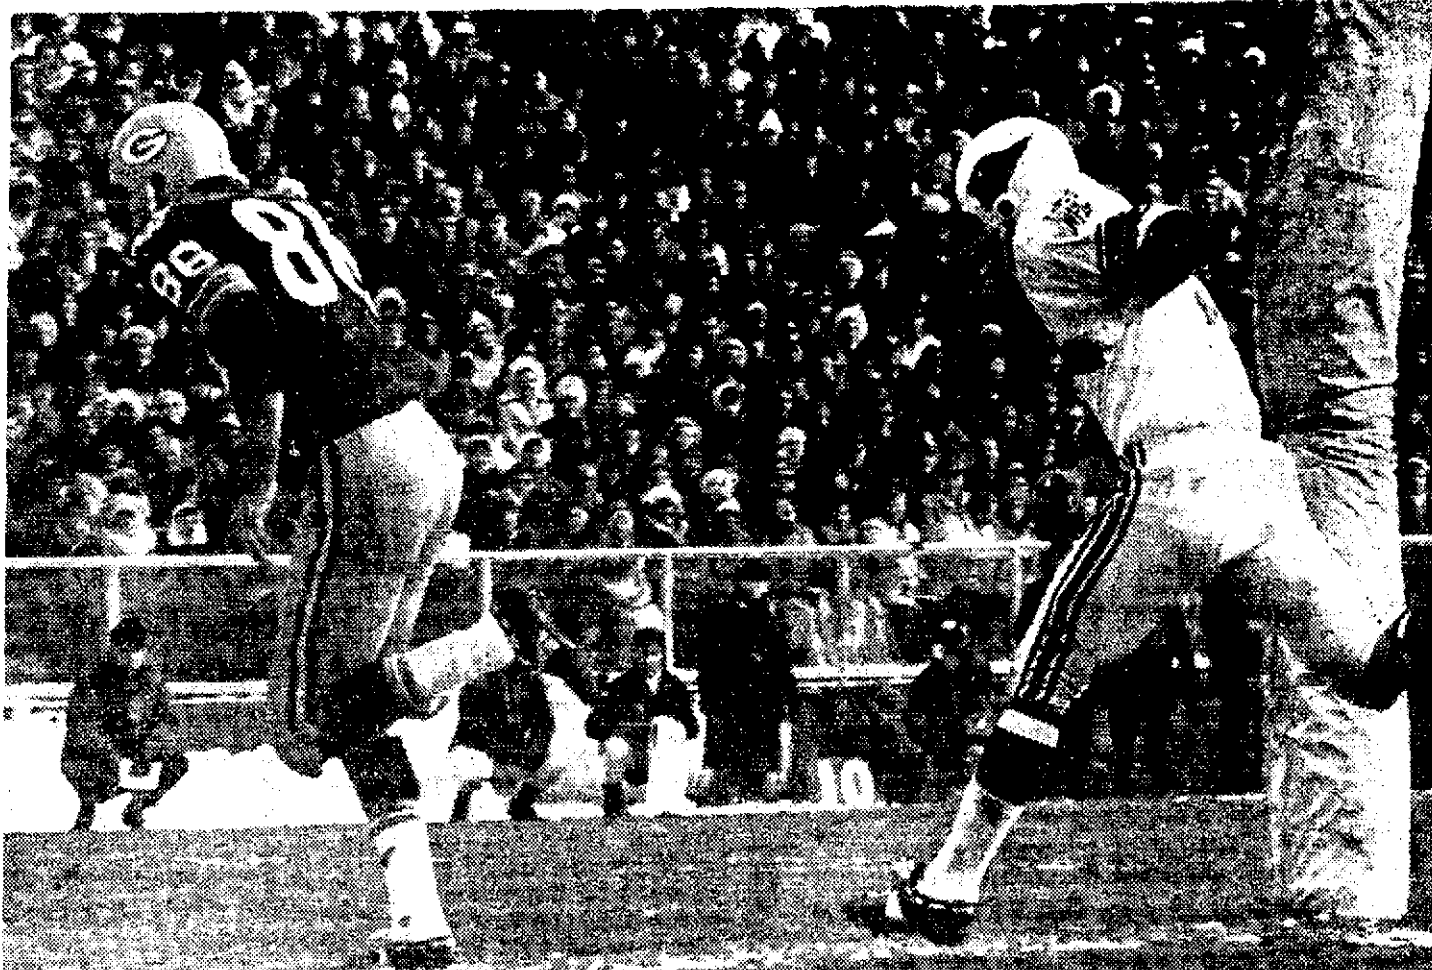

"With the added experience our younger players have acquired this year, and the development, we could be there next season."

Replace Fleming

Asked where he felt help is needed most, Bengtson said, "Tight end," indicating that he would like to replace incumbent Marv Fleming before next season.

"That is easier said than done, however," he said. "The guys who've got good tight ends want to keep them."

NOTES and NOTIONS

With the Green Bay Packers having scored 69 points in their last game and one-half, it seems a shame the '69 regular season isn't just being ginned instead of being history. While some of the NFL powers seemingly are past their peaks (such as the Rams' losing their last three starts), the Packers offense has just reached its top level of proficiency — but it happened a bit too late. The Packers finished the season with a bang (having won their closing game for the eighth time in nine years), and very few quarterbacks have ever had a better day than Don Horn had against the Cardinals. The big danger, of course, of going out on such a high note is that a club can be lulled into a false sense of security for the next season. The Packers finished at 8-6, and except for an extraordinary year, such as 1968 when the Vikings got into the playoffs with that record, it just won't "make it." Green Bay's season-ending wins over the Bears and the Cards are encouraging for next year, just as the season-opening wins over the Bears and the 49ers gave Packerland championship hopes for '69. But, it's well to remember that in the intervening 10 games — the "meat" of the season — the Bays lost six times — mainly to the top teams in the circuit. So, there obviously is work to be done and changes to be made for '70.

One change that probably won't be forthcoming is in the head coaching position. Despite the rumors of several weeks ago that Phil Bengtson might be replaced, it seems highly doubtful — in view of his unexpired contract and the team's strong finish. Though Bengtson isn't the dynamic leader Vince Lombardi was (few coaches are), there's no law that says a quietly efficient type can't mold a championship team.

It's quite probable Bengtson will profit from his first two years as head coach and avoid some of the pitfalls of the past. To make sure there's no offensive breakdown such as burdened the team too frequently this year, responsibility should go to an offense coordinator (someone to bring together all the elements of the attack), someone new should be brought in or a current member of the staff should be designated. Sentiment may have gotten the better of Phil the last two years, as he undoubtedly went with several veteran regulars a little too long. Perhaps the biggest thing that has bugged Bengtson has been the place-kicking problem. Maybe Booth Lustig will prove to be the answer — but the staff should leave no stone unturned in the search for a new "Don Chandler." Conservatively, five or six of the 13 losses of the last two seasons were directly or indirectly traceable to kicking deficiencies.

As far as personnel changes for '70 go, it's too early to know — except in the case of Willie Davis, who has played his last game and the cases of Forrest Gregg and Hank Jordan, who will probably retire. In addition, regular Marv Fleming and reserve John Rowser have played out their options, it was revealed today. So, even if Fleming does return, chances are good that a new tight end will open for the Bays next September. Also, Herb Adderley's post-game sentiments about not wishing to play for Green Bay any more lend a note of uncertainty.

Adderley's early remarks (concerning the Pro Bowl game) seemed to be spawned by a burst of temper and despondency. But, then he began painting himself into a corner, during a second episode, with blarney at the team's offense. It must be admitted that part of his changes, about a lack of offensive imagination earlier in the season are true — yet a coach can't blame himself was hardly tactful and will create a bill of a sticky situation if he should move with Green Bay. Adderley himself might be advised that though the Packers defense, for the season was far superior to the offense, it can still stand improvement. It did not consistently play up to the defensive standards of the Packer title period.

From a long range standpoint, the Packers' quarterbacking future looks fine. Even though the Cards' pass defense isn't the league's best, Horn's performance can't be termed anything but spectacular. He again shows that he has the potential possibly to rate alongside such Packer all-timers as Starr, Arnie Herber and Cecil Isbell. Earlier, Horn had his ups and downs — but, in the light of his inexperience, it could hardly have been otherwise. It's interesting to note that in his four games as starting quarterback (the only times that he was able to prepare himself all week) he was a winner three times. That 1,750 is a pretty fair percentage for a young quarterback.

It's now almost certain that the Packers won't waste an early draft choice on a QB, although a prize package like Mike Phillips will be gone anyway by the time the Packers choose. In next month's draft, the Packers will be either 15th or 16th to pick in the first round. They'll flip with San Diego (which also had an 8-6 record to see who will be 15th).

The Packers' record of scoring back-to-back Super Bowl wins remains intact now that the Jets have been eliminated early. This corner predicted, last September, that the Jets wouldn't even be in the 1970 Super Bowl, let alone win it. I was wrong in picking the Jets to beat Kansas City last Saturday. I had expected Oakland to oust New York in the AFL finals. Joe Namath, off his ordinary performance against the Chiefs, again proved that he isn't ready to be ranked alongside Bart Starr and John Unitas. It takes more than one outstanding game or season to be included in this select company.

Only six teams out of the 26 big league football still have a chance to succeed the Jets as champions. Minnesota still appears to have the best chance of going all the way, despite its let-down against Atlanta. I pick the Vikings to stop Los Angeles Saturday, since the Rams apparently have lost their momentum. I look for the Cowboys to gain revenge against Cleveland Sunday.

In our final regular round of predictions last weekend we sagged to a 6-for-10 showing. For the season, we finished at 75.5 per cent (265 right, 85 wrong and 13 ties).

Pat Fitzgerald Again Named Titan of Week

OSHKOSH — For the second week in a row, former Appleton Xavier star Pat Fitzgerald has been selected as Titan player of the week by Oshkosh State University basketball Coach Bob White.

Fitzgerald swished 30 points against Whitewater as the Titans posted their third victory in a row, all in home games. Thursday, at La Crosse, Fitzgerald scored 15 points.

Fitzgerald has been shooting 57 per cent overall. In his last four outings, he scored on 41 of 72 shots in 64 attempts for 64 per cent.

Fitzgerald is the leading Titan scorer, with 108 points in seven games. He scored 91 of those points in the last four games.

Madison '5' Nips Wilson, 44-42

Madison and Wilson Junior High quintets battled down to the wire Monday afternoon before Madison came out on top, 44-42, in the Fox Valley Frosh League.

Madison is now 2-3 for the season compared to Wilson's 3-2 mark.

The two teams fought a close struggle all the way. It was tied 9-9 at the close of the first period, but then Wilson took leads of 21-20 and 37-36 at the ends of the next two periods.

Madison's Curt Anderson and Wilson's Reid Holdorf traded force throws in the waning seconds. Wilson managed to get a potential game-tying shot off before the final buzzer but missed.

Dan Heinritz led Madison with 19 points, the same total posted by Wilson's Craig Vosters. Holdorf added 12 for Wilson.

Did you know that basketball star Lew Alcindor's real name is not Lew, but Ferdinand? ... His real full name is Ferdinand Lewis Alcindor Jr.

Ever wonder why pro football uses the term "taxi squad" for those players cut from the active roster but kept around in reserve? ... Few know that the name was started by the Cleveland Browns years ago when they were owned by Mickey McBride who also owned taxi cabs. ... When Cleveland players were released, McBride gave them jobs driving taxis so they could earn money while waiting to make the team again. ... Now all teams use the term "taxi squad," and that's how it started.

Bad Weather Favorable to Minnesota

Kapp, Purple Gang Make Vikes Tough

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — If the weather outside is stormy, the Minnesota Vikings appear better equipped to let it snow Saturday than the Los Angeles Rams. Bud Grant's Vikings are a ball control team with a Pat Kapp ready to dump Roman Gabriel in the nearest snow.

Joe Kapp voiced the motto of the Vikings as "Forty for Sixty," a symbol that translates to 40 men for 60 minutes of action.

The Vikings are deep in running backs with Dave Osborn and Bill Brown up front, capably backed by Clint Jones and Oscar Reed. In fact, Grant has been going to Reed more and more in recent days because he starts quicker than Brown. Reed led the club in rushing in Sunday's loss at Atlanta.

Minnesota built up tremendous momentum during the season after losing the opener in New York in the closing seconds. They rolled up 12 in a row, including a 20-13 victory over Los Angeles on the West Coast Dec. 7, before they were stopped by the Falcons, 10-3. They came into their biggest game after a loss but the Rams have dropped three in a row.

No League Title
The Vikings, as an expansion club, never have won a conference title, let alone a league championship or a Super Bowl. It has been a long haul since they entered the league in 1961, but last year's triumph in the Central Division hinted of more to come. They went down swinging in the mud at Baltimore last Dec. 24-14, but they are back for another shot and the Colts are outside looking in.

Some experts have poked fun at Kapp's wobbly passes and he discounted the Vikings' air game but they had to eat their words when the battle-scarred Knapp ruined Baltimore in September with seven touchdown passes.

Because Knapp, 6-foot-3, 215 pounds, is not quick of foot and is a little slow getting back to be set up, he often is a target of an enemy blitz. Consequently, many of his passes are dumped off to the running backs (Osborn, Brown, Reed and Jones).

Washington Target
When he goes to the long ball it usually is to Gene Washington, the fleet third-year man from Michigan State or John Henderson, a former Detroit Lion. Knapp also likes to throw to John Beasley, a 6-3, 235-pound tight end.

The Vikings can rumble on the ground, Osborn has come back all the way from knee surgery and has gained 200 yards who was leading the NFL in more than Brown who has been interceptions when he sprained a sharing the job with Reed in recent weeks. Jones, behind Osborn, remains a deceptive man, veteran reserve man, has breakaway threat.

Grant has not hesitated to take Knapp out of a game when he is going bad and replace him with Gary Cuozzo. He did it against both Green Bay and Pittsburgh in November games. Grady Alderman, last hold-over from the original expansion team, and Jim Velleo, the left side of the offense, have line, an area both Osborn and Brown like to hit. Muck Tinglehoff, the All-League kicker, and Milt Sunde and Ron Yarb, the No. 1 draft pick of 1968, are the others.

Cox Game Scored
Fred Cox's talented place kicking has been a saviour for the Vikings in some games. If comes down to a kicking duel with Bruce Gossett of the Rams, he figures at least to hold his own. The punting is done by Bob Lee, who also is the third string quarterback.

Rugged Front Four
The Purple Gang is the driving force on the ball club, an aggressive front four that destroys quarterbacks Carl Eller, the left end, and Jim Marshall, the right end, usually lead the charge but Alan Page, the right tackle, is the police-four, don't worry about the man to keep things honest on short passes but drop the linebackers into the deep coverage zone. In obvious passing situations, the Vikings use five, become much more active, even six, defensive backs, replacing off seven with middle moving one or two linebackers. Linebacker Lonnie Warwick, the Dale Hackbart, who plays both the corner and linebacker, is the but 225 pounds, is extra tough against the run and Wally Hilgenberg, the right linebacker club, ready to hit and be hit, who was picked up from Pittsburgh for the $100 waiver price, fence but they get the job done chased John Kirby out of a job, and that Purple Gang is some-

Rick Koeck paced Fondy in its defeat at West with 19 markers.

Xavier will try for its third straight conference victory after losing three straight at the start of the season. St. John lost, 64-60, to Marinette Catholic Central Friday but then bounced back for a 55-48 win over Fox Valley Lutheran Saturday.

The Hawks' attack centers around guard Joe DeNoble and center Mark Collier, while the Dutchmen can show strength at the same spots in Gary Vandellay and Mark Hammen.

Ken Rohloff Hits 229 In AHS-West Pin Loop

Ken Rohloff blasted a 229 game and Dave Van Daalwyk hit a 550 series to share honors in the National Division of the Appleton High School West bowling league at Hahn's Lanes.

Mike Coonen had a 210 game, Wayne Koslowski had a 204 and Dave Van Daalwyk had a 210.

In the American Division, Kim Newling led the way with a 195 game and 487 series.

Atkins Quits, But Could Play Again

Circumstances Might Result in Doug's Comeback

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doug Atkins bowed out of professional football Sunday but the big offensive end for the New Orleans Saints left the door slightly open for a return.

"Unlike other players, this is definitely the end for me unless circumstances that I can't control will make me come back." Atkins told New Orleans fans after the Saints had rallied for a 27-24 victory over Pittsburgh.

The game ended as though a Hollywood script writer had prepared a scenario. On the final play, with the Steelers at their 20, quarterback Dick Shiner dropped back and the 39-year-old Atkins charged through and flattened him before he could throw the ball.

Longevity Record

With 205 games and 17 years behind him, Atkins has decked legions of National Football League quarterbacks. He shares the league longevity record with former Cleveland tackle-kicker Lou Groza, and only George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders has played longer — 22 years in both the NFL and American Leagues.

"These have been the happiest three years of my career," Atkins told the 72,000 fans who stayed in their seats for post-game ceremonies. Then he asked the crowd for a personal favor. "Until you understand the game a little better promise me you'll let the coach and his assistants make all the decisions."

This was prompted, partly, by the loud booing when quarterback Billy Kilmer went into the game to replace rookie Ed Hargett with 56 seconds left. Hargett had driven the team to the shadow of the Steeler goal line. Kilmer handed off to Andy Livingston, who leaped three yards for the game-winning touchdown.

Hargett, it was learned, took himself out of the game.

Sometime earlier, the brainy rookie from Texas A&M had been hit hard enough to have a temporary memory lapse—what they call "getting your bell ring" in football circles.

'Bud' Lindsey Tops Paul Tessin In TV Bowling

GREEN BAY — Weyauwega's Paul Tessin was defeated by Sheboygan's reigning champion, Murray "Bud" Lindsey, in the Channel 2's Northeastern Wisconsin Bowling show Saturday.

Lindsey came in with a 671 series for the highest trio of games rolled on the show to date this year. He had games of 215, 211, and 215.

Tessin hit a 596 total, on counting games of 175, 192, and 229. Tessin's series tied him for the second-highest set on the show Oshkosh's Jim Kosun also had a 596 earlier.

At the end of the season, the two bowlers with the highest series will roll off for a $500 prize. In case of a tie such as the one that now exists, the deadlocked kegglers will have a special rolloff.

This week, Lindsey will meet Oshkosh's Dave Putzer in a match at 2 p.m. Saturday at Bay Bowl. The video-tape will be shown at 4:30 p.m.

Bob Helms cracked a 255 game and wound up with 604 to lead the way in the Fish Couples League at Hahn's Lanes. Harvey Vandenberg slammed 586.

A 225-598 aggregate headed the Tri-City Merchants Couples League at Sabre Lanes. Clarence Kohl had the best individual game, a 252.

Mike De Braux hit 593 for laurels in the Comic Couples League at 41 Bowl.

"Tex" Techlin crashed a 588 threesome in leading the Boozer Couples League at Sabre Lanes.

The Beer Couples League at Village Lanes in Little Chute witnessed Art Pennings crack a 244 line and 576 trio. Bonnie 612-618, followed by Vern Kroll, 584; and George Miller, 251-579.

Audrey Bazile's 224 line helped her to a 576 series and honors in the Baseball Couples League at Sabre Lanes.

'Need More Imagination' Adderley Blames Offense

GREEN BAY (AP) — The gloom of an unhappy season weighs heavily on the Green Bay Packers, and Herb Adderley appears to be feeling the burden more than most.

The offense, he said, prevented the former championship club from winning another National Football League trophy, and "I have lost my desire to play for Green Bay."

The cornerback said his disappointment was compounded by what he insisted was Coach Phil Bengtson's failure to promote him as a nominee for the Pro Bowl game Jan. 18.

"This year, without a doubt, has been my best year," Adderley said. "However, playing my heart out didn't get me any acknowledgement from my own coaching staff."

Adderley, a nine-year veteran, was named to The Associated Press all-NFL honor squad. Bengtson said the Packers had indeed nominated Adderley for the bowl, but noted coaches can't vote for their own candidates.

"I know he is disappointed, and he did have a better year this year than last," Bengtson said after Adderley left for Philadelphia. "He's a professional, and I know he'll be back next year and try even harder."

Pride's Been Hurt

"I'm a prideful football player," Adderley said. "Without pride, I can't perform. My pride's been hurt."

We should be in the play—adding they must "put everything together and play the right way," Adderley said. "We could have been too. Our defense was perfect."

In the State's League at the 41 Bowl, Betty Gradl rolled a 214 singleton.

Evie Schiebe's 208 game was the top score hit in the H. C. Prange League at the Super Bowl.

Orr Leading NHL Scoring

Phil Goyette of St. Louis Second, Five Points Behind

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Orr, setting up goals at a machine-gun clip for the Boston Bruins, has lengthened his National Hockey League scoring lead, and is zeroing in on the all-time record for assists by a defenseman.

Orr scored his ninth goal and set up six others in last week's games for a total of 48 points—five more than runnerup Phil Goyette of St. Louis. The Boston flash has piled up 39 assists in 32 games—11 less than the mark for defensemen set by Chicago's Pat Stapleton last season.

Goyette, a veteran center traded to the Blues by New York last summer, picked up a goal and three assists to remain within striking range of the lead. Center Walt Tkaczuk of New York is third with 36 points, one more than left winger Ab McDonald. Goyette's St. Louis linemate, Bill Goldsworthy of Minnesota is the top sniper with 18 goals—four more than he tallied last season.

Oakland's Carol Vadnais is the penalty leader with 143 minutes.

Police & Fire Beat

Four persons, including two children, suffered bumps and bruises in a two-car crash at Franklin and Drew Streets about 3 p.m. Monday.

Cars involved in the accident were driven by Ronald T. Ebben, 18, route 3, and Jo Ann Lewis, Brown Deer, both of whom were injured. The two children who were treated for minor injuries were Evan Lewis, 11, Brown Deer, and Jerry Ebben, 13, route 3.

Police said the Lewis car was northbound on Durkee when it traveled through a stop sign and struck the Ebben car in the right side, forcing it into a parked car owned by Ardye Kamke, route 1, Kaukauna.

Myrtle Bellis, 50 Fairway Court, was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by the fire department rescue squad late Monday morning with a leg injury she suffered in a fall in the first floor entrance to the Zuelke Building, 103 W. College Ave.

The Appleton Fire Department was summoned to the home of Mrs. Basil McKenzie, 66 Garden Court, at 5:20 Monday after a wall panel behind a kitchen stove caught fire. Mrs. Thomas McKenzie reportedly extinguished the small blaze using a pail of water.

Gary Miller, 19, 1624 W. Commercial St., Appleton, was fined $50 in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday after he pleaded no contest to a charge of public intoxication. He was arrested at 10:45 p.m. Sunday by Appleton police in a restaurant in the 300 block of E. College Avenue.

Bond of $150 was set for further proceedings Friday for Richard Kurtz, 19, 613 Western Ave., Neenah, charged with disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon.

He asked for time to consult an attorney when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday morning. Miller was arrested at 1:05 a.m. Friday in the 300 block of N. Appleton Street when police became suspicious of his car. He allegedly was carrying a switchblade knife.

Edward J. Dombrowski, route 5, will stand trial March 16 on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

He pleaded innocent to the charge today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. County police arrested Dombrowski about midnight Dec. 13 after his car was involved in an accident at U.S. 45 and State 76. He is free on $175 bond.

Gerald J. Van Gompel, route 4, today was sentenced to 10 days in jail and was fined $40, and costs after pleading guilty to charges of driving after revocation of his license and

Horn Named Top Offensive Player in NFL

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Don Horn's five-touchdown perform- ance for Green Bay is being hailed as the beginning of a new era in Packerland where Bart Starr has ruled for many years.

Horn, the youngster who took over when an injury drove Starr to the sidelines in the final stages of the season, helped the Packers close out their season with a 45-28 victory over St. Louis.

The third-year man from San Diego State tied one club record and broke another with his five touchdowns passes and his 410 yards on 22 completions in 33 at-tempts. He also earned Asso- ciated Press recognition as of- fensive player of the week in the victory.

MU Chooses Saucedo to Head Athletics

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Samuel P. Saucedo, a faculty member and former Marquette University athlete, was appointed as the school's athletic director Monday

The appointment of the 43-year-old professor of modern languages was announced by the Very Rev. John P. Raynor, Marquette president, at a news conference.

Saucedo, a former chairman of Marquette's athletic board, will take office Jan. 1, succeeding the late Stanley Lowe, who died in August.

Phil Pleased By Team's Comeback

injuries, the Packer major-domo admitted. "You would have to say his history the last years has been bad from an injury standpoint

"But that doesn't necessarily mean he's accident or injury-prone. Every quarterback is highly vulnerable to injuries, of course. All of the injuries Bart has had this year have been kind of fluky things.

Discuss Situation
"I'm hoping to have him back next year. I haven't had an opportunity to talk to him yet, but we'll be sitting down to discuss the situation a little later on He likes the game, I know that, and I'm sure that if he feels he can help the team, he'll want to play."

Bengtson, who earlier had commended Don Horn's record passing performance in Sunday's closing conquest of the Cardinals, noted in this connection, "Every team had better have at least two quarterbacks these days. I don't necessarily mean two of equal ability or interchanging. But you have to have good backup strength because of the highly specialized nature of the position"

The Packer chieftain also made these points:
—"Aside from the injuries to Bart, we were pretty fortunate generally. I think the conditioning program we installed last spring had a lot to do with it. The only other injuries we had were broken bones. We had an absolute minimum of knee and muscle injuries.

Continue Program
"We are going to continue the program — the players already have been given the word to that effect They've gotten to enjoy it. In fact, I don't think there is anyone who is not sold on it.

"No, I sure don't feel that our kicking problem is solved. It may be, but we haven't had enough of a look at this guy (Booth Lusteg) to know if he's the answer or not.

"As far as retirements are concerned, Forrest Gregg is a coach and we're real pleased with his work as a coach. There are several factors to be considered here, but I'm sure he would be considering retiring. And Henry Jordan, too, although we haven't talked about it I'm sure, because of his health problems, he would be thinking of it. Aside from those two, and Willie Davis, I don't know of any other likely retirements

"I don't know at this point what we are going to do with our offensive backfield next season. You would like to have two outstanding backs head and shoulders above the others, and good backup strength ... On the other hand, there's something to be said for having fresh backs in there.

Grabowski in Plans
"I would say Jim Grabowski is in our plans for next season ... We didn't use him in Sunday's game because we thought the others were a little better"

"We're not far along in our plans yet to know just who we'll be going after in the draft ... We know pretty well, of course, what areas we would like to strengthen.

"As far as trades are concerned, we're not going out and looking for them, but if we are approached on some, we'll be receptive. We're not thinking in terms of trading on a wholesale basis to improve our personnel. But I'm sure there will be some trades and we will be receptive to any approaches made to us.

"On realignment, we would like as close to our present division setup as we can get, along with a warm weather city. With one warm weather city in your division, together with inter-divisional play and inter-conference play, you can work up a pretty good schedule

"I think that's somebody's guess that the other teams in our division don't want the Vikings. We have no objection to Minnesota ... I expect we are as fluid as anybody as far as plans are concerned. We would like to retain Chicago as a traditional rival. The Packer-Bear series is more or less historic.

"I'm hoping to get a day or two off in the near future. After that I'm going to the Super Bowl — we have league meetings in connection with it — and watch a couple days of Senior Bowl practice in Alabama."

PACKER PATTER — Don Horn, author of a record 410 yard passing performance in Sunday's 45-28 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals, revealed Monday that he had played both the season finale and the previous Bear game in Chicago with a broken rib.

The injury, to the floating rib on his left side, was suffered on the next to last play of the Cleveland game Dec. 7, he said. Horn, who made his off-sea-

Browns' Kelly Will be Ready For Dallas Tilt

Ankle Injury Was Just Slight Sprain; Scott Also Okay

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns got a morale boost Monday when injuries suffered Sunday by running backs Leroy Kelly and Robert "Bo" Scott proved to be minor

The Browns, who travel to Dallas this Sunday to meet the Cowboys in the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship game, pulled Kelly out of Sunday's 27-14 loss in New York when he suffered a slight sprain of his right ankle.

"It's a little sore but feels okay," Kelly said Monday "I'm sure it will be just fine for Sunday."

Kelly, who won the NFL's rushing titles in 1967 and 1968, didn't even bother to keep an appointment Monday with a team physician for x-rays and a routine checkup of his ankle. He was treated by the team's trainer, however

Bruised Knee
Scott, who apparently won the starting fullback spot from rookie Ron Johnson by gaining 85 yards in nine carries against the Giants, came out of the game with a bruised knee.

The Browns rested Monday, but Coach Blanton Collier will meet with them early Tuesday before running drills.

The Browns will work out Wednesday and Christmas Day in Cleveland, possibly at Municipal Stadium due to poor conditions at the practice field caused by recent snows.

"I'm looking forward to it," Kelly said of this Sunday's rematch. "I guess we all are"

The Century Division champion Browns (10-3-1) won a 42-10 decision over the Cowboys back on Nov. 2 in Cleveland. The Capitol Division champion Cowboys (11-2-1) also lost last year's Eastern Conference title game to the Browns by a 31-20 margin.

Israel Rejects U.S. Mideast Peace Plan

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel, in one of its strongest blasts at the United States, has rejected U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace agreement, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

On the battlefield, Israeli commandos struck into Egypt again Monday night to mortally wound an Egyptian naval base on the Red Sea coast, the Israeli command said. It was the second raid on an Egyptian military installation in five days.

Up to 920 Holiday Road Deaths Seen

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today that 800 to 920 persons may be killed in traffic accidents over the Christmas weekend. It urged caution and moderation in holiday drinking.

"Ideally, if you are going to drive, it would be better if you didn't drink at all," Howard Pyle, council president, advised.

"But if you do imbibe, do so in such a manner that your coordination, eyesight, and common sense will not be impaired so that you can safely cope with the high hazards of this holiday such as unusually heavy traffic, poor weather conditions, and early darkness," Pyle added.

To stay unimpaired by alcohol, a persons should allow an hour to pass for each average drink, Pyle suggested. An average drink would be one containing an ounce of whiskey, gin, etc., or a 12-ounce serving of beer, he said.

The period covered by the council's estimate will extend from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 24, to midnight Sunday, Dec. 28. During the Thanksgiving weekend, containing the same number of days, there were 686 traffic deaths.

Rogers Optimistic at Saigon War Abilities

Israeli Charge That U.S. Plan for Peace Appeases Arabs Denied by Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers strongly defended the controversial U.S. proposals for a Middle East peace today and specifically rejected an Israeli charge that they amounted to "appeasement of the Arabs."

Rogers also said "we have reason to be cautiously optimistic" about the eventual success of the effort to have South Vietnam take over its own defense.

Rogers told a news conference that North Vietnamese infiltration into the South is down at least 60 per cent this year from last. But he declined to predict whether a recent upswing in North Vietnamese troop movements into the South foreshadowed another enemy offensive.

The secretary of state gave a general year-end sum-up of the international picture which he found improved despite some disappointments.

"I think on the whole the President can be proud of his leadership in the foreign affairs field," Rogers said.

Little Progress

But one important area where admittedly little progress has been made is in efforts to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute—and Washington's new proposals aimed at finding a peaceful solution have been rebuffed by both sides.

The Israeli cabinet Monday issued a statement which reflected deteriorating U.S.-Israeli relations because of the U.S. effort. The Israelis denounced the American proposals as "appeasement of the Arabs" which "seriously prejudice prospects for peace."

U.S. Position

In reply, Rogers said the American proposals were fair, round, comprehensive and consistent with the resolution the U.N. Security Council voted after the 1967 war.

Philadelphia Plan Passes Tax Reform Bill Given Final Congressional Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the $19.9 billion appropriation for health, education and labor programs — which Nixon has threatened to veto also because it exceeds his budget — will be the first order of business when the 91st Congress begins its second session Jan. 19.

Senate manpower was dwindling as the recess neared: 73 members were on hand for what was the final roll call Monday night.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew made a late evening trip to the Capitol to preside, presumably in case of a tie vote, which he could have broken in favor of the administration.

Oversee Spending

The measure involved both civil rights and congressional prerogatives to oversee federal spending.

The job system is called the Philadelphia plan, and under it, federal contractors agree to provide a prescribed share of construction jobs to Negroes and other minority Americans.

Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats, responsible to Congress for supervision of spending, has ruled this an illegal quota system. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who works for the administration, has held it a proper use of goals for minority employment.

The amendment would have barred spending on contracts which the comptroller general holds to be illegal.

Minority Employment

The Senate retreat means the courts eventually will decide the dispute—but it also means the administration can continue operation of the minority employment system on 14 projects now underway, most of them in the Philadelphia area.

The massive tax bill—which Nixon has not personally said he will sign—offers the second largest income tax reduction in history, and provides a 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

The government estimates it will put some $6.8 billion in additional revenues into the Treasury during the next 18 months, but as it becomes fully effective, over four years, tax reductions will overtake and pass the revenue producing reform provisions.

Administration Viewpoint Northern School Segregation Escapes Federal Crackdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of the Nixon administration agree with the southern complaint that federal law deals too lightly with racially segregated schools in the North and West.

The government has done little about northern school segregation, officials say, for two main reasons: lack of judicial mandate from the Supreme Court and active discouragement by Congress.

"It has become clear to me that the old bugaboo of keeping federal hands off northern school systems because they are only de facto segregated, instead of de jure segregated as the result of some official act, is a fraud," said Leon E. Panetta, director of the Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Residential Patterns

De facto is the term applied to school segregation resulting solely from residential patterns. De jure is the description for segregation decreed by law or formal custom, such as state-established dual school systems in the South.

"There are few if any pure de facto situations," Panetta said. "Lift the rock of de facto, and all too frequently something ugly and discriminatory crawls out from under it."

"Sure, racial housing patterns may coincide with school attendance patterns by race. But which came first and how was the school boundary drawn?" Panetta asked.

And HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch said recently Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a "valid point" in his argument that federal law appears to condemn school segregation in the South but condone it in the North and West.

"The Supreme Court has chosen only to come down on desegregation where it is times established and mainstreamed particular schools for minority students, many years have elapsed since rigid racial segregation existed as a matter of formal policy or practice."

Consequently, evidence of discrimination must be sought in the administrative actions of local authorities—a process that invariably requires the examination of hundreds and thousands of individual decisions made by school officials over a period of years," Panetta said.

Such evidence would include bigger classes, fewer qualified teachers, and inferior equipment in predominantly Negro schools than in predominantly white ones. It could also be gerrymandered school attendance zones or teachers assigned by race.

To Your Good Health Hiatal Hernia Not An Uncommon Ailment

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor told me I had a very small hiatal hernia at the top of my stomach. Is there any cure? Or any chance that some day it will cause an ulcer or probably a cancer?

I was 63 last month and would like to have this corrected before I get too old. Please print as I read your column every time it appears in the paper. — Mrs. J. R.

Dr. Thosteson:

This column but perhaps you did not recognize it under its medical name.

This is not a hernia of the stomach. It is a hernia (or enlargement) of the gap in the diaphragm through which the esophagus passes to reach the stomach. With this gap a little larger than it should be, part of the top of the stomach can be forced either into or through the gap.

In some few cases there may be enough irritation to cause an ulcer, although this is not common. It is not the sort of thing which leads to cancer, so set your mind at rest about it. If you've missed my discussion of this, I'm sorry, but for various reasons some newspaper cannot print the column every day although I dutifully write one every day of the year. I hope you'll see this one.

To go on, this type of trouble was seldom recognized a generation or two ago, mild cases not causing the patients much trouble. Painful cases were misidentified often as an ulcer. X-ray is generally necessary to distinguish these hernias from ulcers. We now know that the hernias are quite common.

The technical name by the way, is either hiatus hernia or hiatal hernia and occasionally quite different terms are used for it: esophageal hernia or upside-down stomach, the latter being of course pretty far-fetched.

Anyway, if such a hernia causes little distress there's no need to do anything about it. If it is frequently painful, a bland diet, the same as used for ulcers, may calm it down.

Since sheer gravity helps keep the stomach down where it belongs, the hernia may trouble a patient when lying down but not otherwise. Hence raising the head of the bed a few inches (so you lie on a slight slope) sometimes helps. If a person is overweight, losing some excess fat can provide comfort. If there is less fat in the abdomen, there is less pressure upward on the stomach.

In severe cases surgery sometimes is required, but simple precautions will control most cases without surgery. Judging from the sound of your letter, your case isn't one that is likely to give you cause for concern.

If you'd like to learn more about this problem, write for my booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent, for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When one has diarrhea with yellow, watery stools, does it mean there is inflammation somewhere in the bowels? I am 63. — E. B. K.

It may — or may not. It may be due to lack of sufficient acid in the stomach. Stool studies (to detect parasites) and bowel X-ray are necessary procedures before one can hope to reach a dependable diagnosis.

Note to L. R.: The reason I won't eat raw hamburger is that it may occasionally be infested with eggs of the beef tapeworm. It may not be common — but having even one tapeworm is more than enough. So I insist on having meat cooked.

Koering Co. Reports '69 Sales Gains

Record Shipments, Lower Earnings

Drop Profit Margins

Masonic Lodge To Seat Officers

MILWAUKEE — Koehring Co., international machinery manufacturer which has a farm equipment division headquarters in Appleton today reported sales for the fiscal year, ending Nov. 30, 1969 of $245,451,000, compared with $226,936,000 a year ago.

Earnings totaled $8,120,000 this year compared with $9,750,000 a year ago. This represents per share earnings of $2.55 compared with $3.22.

The record shipments coupled with lower earnings primarily reflects two circumstances which affected the performance of Koehring and other capital goods manufacturers during 1969—higher costs of doing business and government fiscal and monetary controls to control inflation.

Profit margins were further eroded, he added, "due to expenses and delays involved in expansion programs and introduction of new product lines."

Mertz said that programs are in progress to offset the inflationary pressure.

He said that economic prospects for 1970 are uncertain but the urgent needs for housing, pure water, food and transportation continue.

The Appleton division is called Fox Tractor, which was purchased by the firm in 1968.

Art Is Good Choice of A Far-Out Investment

(Editor's note — Here is the first of three columns by Sylvia Porter on art as an investment. The series is another in Miss Porter's continuing coverage of unusual investment opportunities. Previously this year she has written on the off beat markets in coins, postage stamps, gold, diamonds, antiques, rare books and manuscripts.)

BY SYLVIA PORTER

An Edinburgh art teacher made worldwide headlines early this month when she sold for $537,500 a picture which had hung unrecognized in her modest living room for 15 years and which had once been valued at $50. Actually, though, this front page story was almost "old hat."

Sales of paintings of major importance in the $1 million range are becoming increasingly common. A Tiepolo was sold in June for $982,000 and Rembrandt self-portrait for $1,519,200 — in both instances, hundreds of thousands of dollars more than these works might have brought a few years earlier.

Between 1951 and 1960, according to the London Times-Sotheby art index, the prices of French impressionist paintings multiplied 15 times; those of British 18th and 19th Century paintings, more than 10 times; of 20th Century European paintings, 19 1/2 times; of 17th Century Italian paintings, 33 times.

Spectacular Rise
Among individual artists, the upsurge also has been spectacular. Renoirs are up more than 1,500 per cent since 1950. Picassos have multiplied 21 times and Braques, 19 times. In 1968 alone, prices paid for Utrillos soared 45 per cent and for Vlamincks, 58 per cent.

Prices in many art categories have risen so dramatically that it has been suggested that art prices be published daily in the newspapers — like stock quotations.

Today, big-city department stores are opening art departments offering original art work. Franchised art galleries are being set up from coast to coast. Dozens of art investment funds — mutual funds — are being organized to invest in works of art strictly for profit; at least three public art investment funds are being formed in New York, while in Paris, a French-Dutch-Belgian fund is being developed for New York backing. Investment counselors, too, are offering advisory services in investment in art works.

Young Americans are increasingly spending their extra money on paintings and sculptures — in many cases by their contemporaries — for the investment value as well as the aesthetic pleasure. And many wealthier young Americans are budgeting $10,000-and-up a year for art works, along with their other profit-seeking investments.

Big and small corporations, are meanwhile sinking substantial sums in paintings and sculptures — and not just for decoration by any means. The objective is profits.

What's behind the art boom? How can you buy into it — with the expectation of making significant profits when you resell?

An obvious force behind the boom is the very inflationary era in which we now live. In a time of inflation, tangible, valuable objects — ranging from rare coins and rare books to land, antiques, tapestries, etc. — are favorite investment media for so-called smart money. Throughout 1969, I've been writing about these "far out investment" areas and how to participate in them.

Better Educated
A second factor is that we in this nation have achieved unprecedented peaks of educational attainment, travel to the world's cultural centers and discretionary spending. This gives us the desire and the means to satisfy the desire.

At the same time, tens of millions of us have become regular museum-goers. Before World War II, there were only about 20 art museums in the U.S.; today, there are some 180. The museums — along with the universities — are not only stimulating our interest in buying art but are also helping to drive up prices through their own purchases of art works.

Finally, for at least the very best examples, there are the basic forces of a steadily shrinking supply and a relentlessly growing long-term demand.

It is possible to invest in art for financial profit plus aesthetic return. Tomorrow's column will give you the basic guidelines.

Miller Still Will Brew Gettleman

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Charles W. Miller, president of Miller Brewing Co., says the firm will continue to brew Gettleman brands of beer, even though the Gettleman division's operations will be terminated effective Feb. 1.

Miller, in announcing the closing of the 115-year-old Gettleman factory, said Gettleman brands would be produced and marketed from a new addition to Miller's main plant.

"That will accommodate the production of the Gettleman brands and make it feasible to produce and expand the sale of Gettleman brands which up to now have been mostly confined to the State of Wisconsin," Miller said.

Miller employs nearly 1,300 brewery workers, including about 100 at the Gettleman plant. The combined output of Miller and Gettleman last year was 4.8 million barrels.

Miller said company and brewery workers union were negotiating to achieve an equitable integration of Gettleman and Miller personnel.

Gettleman was founded in 1854 and was sold to Miller in 1961 for more than $1 million.

Miller is spending their extra money on paintings and sculptures — in many cases by their contemporaries — for the investment value as well as the aesthetic pleasure. And many wealthier young Americans are budgeting $10,000-and-up a year for art works, along with their other profit-seeking investments.

Red Tape in Madison

New IDs Won't be Ready

MADISON (AP) — The legislature's new identification card plan for beer-drinking teenagers lies bleeding in an embarrassing mound of red tape.

John Short, director of the Bureau of Purchases, disclosed Monday that the cards won't be a available next month, although the legislature has ruled that no other cards issued after Jan. 1 are to be recognized by beer sellers.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles signed the new identification card measure into law Nov. 28.

But Short said there isn't enough time to get the cards distributed before February, and that persons over 18 who need the cards for buying beer are going to have to wait—unless the legislature grants a moratorium on the Jan. 1 deadline.

To the rescue of the thirsty is Asst. Atty. Gen. John Murphy, who said he was drawing up a bill for consideration by lawmakers during their two-week session in January.

The bill, he said, asks that the effective date for the new cards be postponed from Jan. 1 to March 15.

Short said the new law did not reflect the time-consuming process of having to find a printer for the new cards, getting them prepared with distributed to county register photographers, and getting them distributed to county register of deeds.

A card will cost a teen-ager about $3. He must submit two photographs, each measuring one inch by one-and-a-quarter inches. One photo is for the card, the other for file purposes.

Persons lacking a card, but who can prove they are of the legal beer drinking age, can register with the beer seller if he is willing.

Short said the law has another annoyance: a teen-ager cannot apply for a card until he has turned 18.

Short suggested letting teen-agers apply for the cards within 30 days of their 18th birthday, so that they'll be prepared for legal consumption.

Otherwise, he said, "they're going to be awfully thirsty."

Court Asked to Halt Lottery

Students at UW Say Draft Drawing Favors Some Months

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A group of students, most of them classified I-A by the Selective Service, asked a U.S. District Court Monday to order a new draft lottery.

In a motion filed by University of Wisconsin student David S. Stodolsky of Toms River, N. J., the court was asked to restrain the Selective Service from calling draftees under the Dec. 1 lottery, contending it had not been conducted in an impartial manner.

Judge James E. Doyle scheduled a hearing Dec. 30.

Stodolsky, 24, said he was joined by 12 other plaintiffs, most of whom received low numbers in the lottery. He said he is No. 47 in the lottery, and would "suffer irreparable harm" if drafted.

President Nixon, he said, had called Nov. 26 for a "random selection sequence."

But the draw, Stodolsky said, was biased against birthdates late in the year. Sixteen of the first 100 possibilities involved December while only six involved January, he argued.

McCormack Stands In Way of Federal Birth Control Aids

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Just as President Nixon and key Republicans in Congress are energetically boosting government aid for birth control, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts is dragging his feet in the habitual way of big city Democrats worried about Catholic constituents.

Evans Novak

McCormack has been quietly stalling Nixon's plan for a special — and long overdue — Presidential commission on the population explosion. The fact that pressure for action is now mounting against McCormack from both Republicans and a wide cross-section of Democrats in the House is another sign that the venerable speaker is out of touch with the times.

Indeed, the history of the population Commission resolution, provides at least one concrete piece of proof for White House charges of foot-dragging.

It was sent to Congress in early August, backed by the entire Republican leadership and the powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur Mills. Almost five months later — and three months after it passed the Senate without opposition — the resolution languishes in the House Rules Committee.

Sent Troubleshooter
To crack the McCormack-imposed delays on the resolution, Nixon dispatched his aced domestic troubleshooter, Daniel (Pat) Moynihan, to Capitol Hill to persuade McCormack to change his mind about having the resolution consigned to the House Rules Committee.

But Moynihan's effort was no more successful with the Speaker than an earlier attempt by Rep. William L. Dawson of Illinois, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee and an old McCormack ally. Dawson's com m i t t e e, after hearings in mid-November, reported the resolution Dec. 10 and had it placed on the consent calendar — a routine device allowing non-controversial bills to be brought straight to the floor, bypassing the Rules Committee.

Quick Approval
The speaker, who has close ties to the Roman Catholic hierarchy, decided the Population Commission does not fit into the non-controversial category. Despite Dawson's decision to place the resolution on the consent calendar, McCormack had it removed on Dec. 12 and sent to the Rules Committee, informing him of this action stated flatly that as a controversial measure the resolution had to go through the time-consuming routine of the Rules Committee, which will not meet again until mid-January.

By contrast, the Senate Government Operations Committee held hearings on the resolution on Sept. 15, reported it to the Senate Sept. 24, and got Senate approval five days later.

McCormack's delaying tactics on Nixon's landmark decision to set up the first Presidential commission in U. S. history on the dangerous population crisis is in sharp conflict with actions by the President's own party in the House.

A Republican task force assigned to study rampant population growth, both here and in the rest of the world, will soon publish findings that place the crisis in stark terms. Boded down, the task force warns that at the present rates of increase, the world's population will quadruple — from the present 3.5 billion to 14 billion — in just 45 years.

That staggering statistic is based on testimony from a wide range of witnesses who appeared before the task force (headed by Rep. George Bush of Texas) in hearings that began last June. But the Bush task force (set up by Rep. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the House Republican Research Committee) went well beyond technical experts to probe political and racial implications of government population-control measures.

Scare Talk
One witness was Rep. Shirley Chisholm, of Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant ghetto, who pointedly disavowed scare talk from black militants that the Federal government intends to use birth-control programs as a form of genocide against the Negro race.

This hysteria about racial extermination, Mrs. Chisholm testified, has no believers among Negro mothers. To the contrary, she said, easier access in black urban ghettos to birth-control devices and information on how to use them is essential. The Bush panel will make a dozen or so hard recommendations, centering on two main targets far more federal financing of birth control programs so that within five years, all women who want help can get it free; and a major reorganization of present programs, to improve delivery of birth control services.

These recommendations by the Republican task force will give the new Presidential commission, once approved by Congress, some hard facts to chew on. But first, Speaker McCormack's stone age obstructionism must be surmounted.

Poet's Father Publicly Voices His Disapproval

MIAMI (AP) — Louis Ginsberg publicly showed his stern parent side Sunday when he turned to blue-janned, bearded son Allen, pointed his finger and told him he was setting a bad example for the younger generation.

The 44-year-old son, a poet watch television and advocate of LSD and marijuana, had just finished a beautiful speech to 1,000 persons at Temple Israel, and on the greenness of the fields," and he took the floor, and Allen lifted his hand to get his attention.

long enough to interrupt. The elder Ginsberg described his son as the guru of the flower generation and reprimanded him for urging legalization of drugs. "You keep telling them to smoke pot and get high on LSD knowing that they can get in trouble with the police. You are setting a bad example for them," the younger Ginsberg had told the congregation. "I am turned on more often than I am turned off."

But his papa said, "I can get juana had just finished a beautiful speech to 1,000 persons at Temple Israel, and on the greenness of the fields," and he took the floor, and Allen lifted his hand to get his attention.

State Industry Enjoys Record Development

1969 to Reach New High in Expansion, Plant Construction

MADISON (AP) — Palmer B. McConnell, administrator of the state Division of Economic Development, says Wisconsin enjoyed a record year of industrial development in 1969, according to preliminary figures released Monday.

McConnell told Gov. Warren P. Knowles the final tally of new plants and expansions during 1969 would be 450, compared with the previous high of 421 last year.

McConnell said he expected new plant construction to reach about 8,500,000 square feet, compared with 7,552,265 square feet in 1968. He said other economic growth statistics showed that personal income was up 9.4 per cent, as estimated by business Week, against 8.7 per cent for the nation.

Manufacturing employment reached a record high of 531,000 persons, McConnell said, and employment in general averaged 1,820,000, or a gain of 2.5 per cent or 45,000 jobs over the previous year. Unemployment averaged 3.4 per cent of the labor force, slightly below 1968.

McConnell said construction continued on a "high level overall," despite a shortage of mortgage funds and high interest rates.

Population growth was slow, McConnell said. The census bureau estimated Wisconsin's population in July at 4,233,000, up from 4,211,000 in July of the previous year.

Clintonville Plan

Bids Opened for Housing Project

CLINTONVILLE — Because of a change in the bidding requirements by the Chicago office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), it was necessary for the city's housing authority to readvertise for proposals for constructing a 60-unit, low-rent housing project for the elderly. The closing date for proposals was 5 p.m., Dec. 18. The housing authority met Monday night in the council room of City Hall to open the proposals.

Bids were opened from two developers and are now being reviewed by the housing authority. They were submitted by Sheldon Segel and Associates, Milwaukee, and Clintonville Lumber and Supply Inc., Clintonville. Segel's bid totaled $914,000 for a 38,482-square-foot building to be constructed on a proposed 1.32-acre site on E. 12th Street. Clintonville Lumber and Supply's bid totaled $857,330 for a 40,564-square-foot building to be constructed on a 1.75-acre site on N. 12th Street.

Ex-Clintonville School Chief To Study Education Financing

K. O. Rawson Will Investigate Problem for State Lawmaker

MARION — Retired Clintonville school superintendent K. O. Rawson has been asked by a state legislator to help come up with more effective ways to finance public education in Wisconsin. Francis Byers, R-Marion, said Monday that he hopes to meet with Rawson soon after the holidays to begin work on a proposal. He will not introduce the proposal in the planned abbreviated January session, he added.

Byers said his plan still is not molded but he indicated that he feels the property tax dollar is carrying too much of the load, particularly for higher education. Byers was critical of tax dollars being used so extensively for universities with "multiple degrees, possibly even doctorates." However, he defended some form of financing of elementary education, saying "I consider a K (kindergarten) through 12 education a right."

The legislator made it clear he felt that the property tax was being overworked and this was creating a hardship, especially among the elderly homeowners. He said property taxes should be for local municipal services, as police protection, snow removal and fire protection. Although he said it was too early to "make it public," Byers indicated his proposal might push for using the personal income tax, inheritance tax and capital gains tax to ease the burden on the property tax. He also suggested plugging loopholes in present tax law, including exemptions for children. He admitted that it might create a hardship on large families but he questioned whether people have the right to have children on an unlimited basis, regardless of their ability to support them.

School Taxes Send Dale's Rate Soaring

Town Board Approves Budget, Biggest Boost in Its History

DALE — Town residents will experience the biggest tax rate increase ever under a budget recently adopted by the Town Board.

After a $2.39 state tax credit, the total tax rate for Dale residents in the Hortonville School District will be $58.68 per $1,000 assessed valuation and the New London district $63.64. Town officials said the rates were mainly the result of a $6.19 rate increase in the New London school tax and a $4.18 increase for Hortonville.

The rates are based on an assessed valuation of $2,721,085 which is an increase of $27,220 over the 1968 valuation.

For Dale residents in the Hortonville district, the breakdown shows $44.86 for school purposes, $2.59 for the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Dist. 12 (VTE-12), 56 cents for state tax and $13.06 for Outagamie County tax.

In the New London district the rates are $49.85 for school purposes, $2.56 for VTE-12, 56 cents for state and $13.06 for county.

Those living in the sanitary districts in the New London district will pay a $3 per $1,000 assessed valuation for one year. The total tax levy will produce $175,527, an increase of $21,937 over the current funding.

This includes a $14,260 increase from the New London district and $4,010 from the Hortonville district. The VTE-12 levy will produce $6,989, a hike of $200, while the state tax will provide $1,529 and the county tax $35,517.

Obey to Head New Youth Commission

WASHINGTON — Rep. David Obey (D-Wis.) has been named chairman of a newly created Youth Participation Commission of the Democratic National Committee by Sen. Fred R. Harris, (D-Okl.), Democratic national chairman.

The new committee is to make recommendations in three areas, according to Harris. "I have asked the commission to recommend how the Democratic National Committee can strengthen and expand the role of the Young Democratic Clubs of America in party affairs, and also to recommend concerning the College Young Democrats and the Teen Young Democrats," Harris said.

"I have asked the commission to make recommendations for greater involvement of young people in activities of the Democratic party itself, as well as through established party youth organizations," he said. The commission will submit its final report by March 15 and may make interim recommendations.

Byers, who noted that Rawson had spent many years in education in Wisconsin, said he also was concerned that many taxpayers, covertly or overtly, were blaming teachers and schools for high taxes because of the large portion that goes for schools. The situation is "pitting teachers and taxpayers against each other," he said.

Hickory Stick Turns Fancy For Holidays

HILBERT — Youngsters in the fifth and sixth grade at St. Mary Catholic School here turned tables on the traditional disciplinary hickory switch recently and gave the switch a trimming.

A hickory branch served as the class Christmas tree in order to prevent any possible fire hazard at the school.

Boys painted the tree with white shoe polish then glued cotton to the branches. Decorations were original creations of foil covered foam balls decorated with beads and gold braid and covered thread spools.

Gifts brought by each member of the class were placed underneath.

Mrs. Walter Vollmer, the teacher, said she was apprehensive about using a hickory branch from her son's woodlot as a substitute for an evergreen, but agrees with the children that it is festive and different.

Originality and Creativity by Hilbert St. Mary Catholic fifth and sixth graders not only paid big dividends by transforming an ordinary hickory stick into a delightful Christmas tree, but offered the added bonus of safety. Peggy Vollmer and Gerald Campbell, both of route 1, Hilbert, put the finishing touches, all handmade by classmates, on their special tree. (Thiel Photo)

Parish to Continue School

STOCKBRIDGE — Members of St. Mary Catholic Church have voted 214-14 to continue their 307-pupil elementary school, bucking a trend of cutbacks in other area parochial schools.

The vote came Sunday after an announcement by the recently formed parish board of education that all parishioners would have to meet their financial obligations since new equipment is needed.

Approximately 50 per cent of the eligible voters were represented in the 238 votes cast.

The eight-room school has a faculty of four teaching nuns from the Franciscan Sisters of Milwaukee and four lay teachers with a supervising nun principal. The school is one of two Catholic schools in Calumet County offering eight grades in an unconsolidated system.

A proposed tuition rate, readied in case church dues are not met, was explained at a Dec. 7 informational meeting conducted by the board.

Tuition and books for one child was set at $31; two children $56; three children $78; four children $94, and five or more, $100. The board emphasized that the suggested tuition will not be necessary if everyone pays their full assessments.

Church dues, set at this year's annual meeting, are $200 a year for family units.

Parishioners were told that the present tuition covers only books and materials and church dues covered teacher's salaries and maintenance.

Tuition minus the book bill was set at $15 for one child, $12 for two, $10 for three, $7.50 for four, $4 for five and 66 cents for six or more, annually. It was felt the tuition should not cause a hardship for large families.

Overhead projectors, slides, tape recorders, used black and white television sets for educational programs, science materials, updated maps and material for slow learning pupils were the needs listed.

No raise in salary for the sisters is planned for next year since salaries are set by the diocese.

The Rev. Mark Schommer of the Green Bay Diocese's education office spoke at all masses on the weekend of Dec. 13 and 14 as the second part of the informational program before the balloting.

About 70 per cent of the questionnaires prepared for the 137 families with children attending the parochial school were returned.

A total of 156 families reported that they would work with the parish and try to understand its needs. Three replied they would not.

There were 148 who said they would send their child to the school even though it may be necessary to pay an increase in tuition, and the same number said they saw a value in Catholic education and were not planning to send their children to a public school. Two cast "undecided ballots."

A total of 145 parents said they would send their children to religious institutions if the school were closed.

There were a total of 22 "no" votes on the question, which women help with reading and also included parts on volunteer-teaching religion and accepting lay persons as religious teachers.

Twenty-four parents were willing to volunteer to service hours a day.

The others do clerical work at home or serve as playground supervisors.

Board members said they had not analyzed yet why only 50 per cent of the eligible voters cast their ballots after the mass Saturday night and Sunday.

They said some of the non-voters favored keeping the school but do not have children to help with the program.

The faculty presently is assisting it and felt that those who do should decide.

3 Iola Youths to Face Trial on Drug Charges

WAUPACA — The three Iola youths arrested for the sale and possession of marijuana had preliminary hearings Monday before Judge Nathan Wiese in County Court Branch 2.

John J. Johnson, 18, a student at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, entered a plea of innocent to the charge of selling marijuana.

Johnson appeared in the morning with his court-appointed attorney, Edward Hart of Waupaca.

Darrel Remington, 19, was called to the stand to corroborate a statement he had given sheriff officials early last week, but he chose to remain silent.

Wiese bound Johnson over to trial.

Remington was bound over to County Court Branch 1 for trial. The $2,500 bond on which he was released last week will stand.

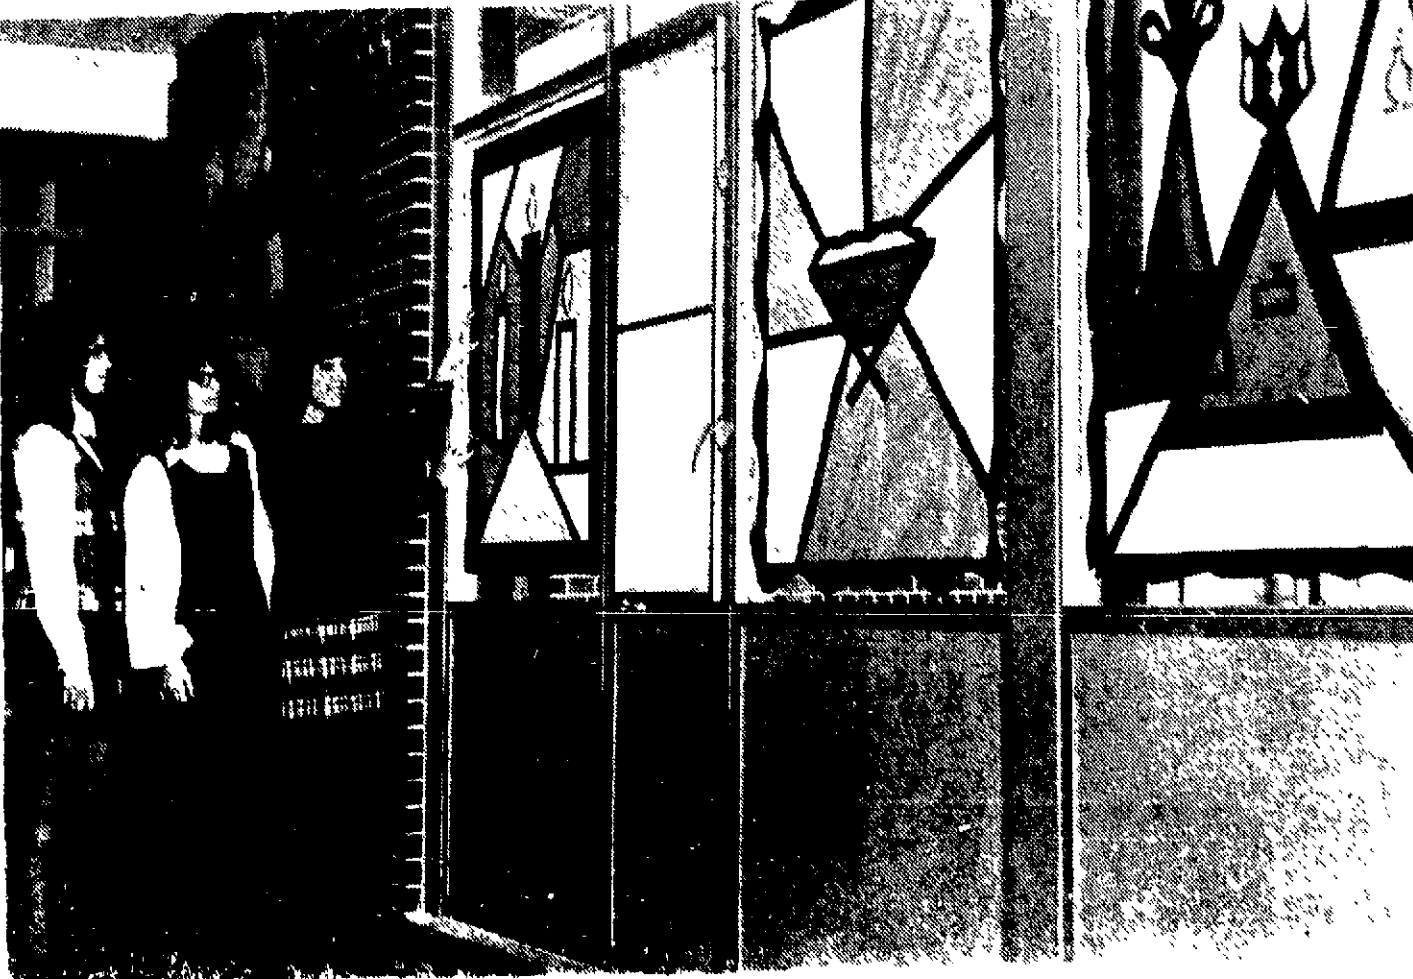

Robert A. Paske, 18, route 1, Scandinavia, appeared with Omholt, his court-appointed attorney. He entered a plea of innocent to possession of marijuana. Paske was bound over to County Court Branch 1 for trial. His $2,500 bond will stand.

Testifying at the hearings were Sheriff Loran Frazier and sheriff's investigator Wayne Schroeder. Chief Donald Loken, Iola, who worked with the sheriff's department in arresting three youths and two juveniles within the past 10 days, was in the courtroom but did not testify.

Evidence submitted by the sheriff's department under questioning for the state by Asst. Dist. Atty. Stephen Hansen included a report from the State Crime Laboratory that the materials gathered at the time of the arrests (a steel box alleged to contain marijuana, a pipe and bags of vegetable matter believed to be marijuana) contained marijuana suitable for smoking.

Frazier also produced signed statements from the youths, subsequent to their arrests.

Trial dates have not been set.

Police Silent on Leads in Embassy Robbery-Slaying

There are no immediate plans for arrests in the slaying of a man whose body was found early Sunday morning near Zittau, Winnebago County Jail Det. Wilbur Fuller said this morning.

"We are checking every possible lead," Fuller said. "If we do have some specific leads, I wouldn't want it to come out at this time anyway."

The sheriff's department has been joined by the Appleton Police Department in the investigation into the shooting death of Frank Frye, 63, 519 Douglas St., Appleton, a night clerk at the Embassy Motor Lodge, Winnebago County Trunk RR, and the robbery of $263 from the motel cash register.

Fuller said the two departments were questioning "lots of people, everybody we can get a hold of."

A statewide alert has been sent out, and authorities are investigating the possibility of any tie-in with other robberies and burglaries in the region. However, Fuller said this was normal procedure.

County Coroner Art C. Miller said it appeared that Frye was shot in a vehicle in which he traveled to the point off Winnebago County Trunk RR, 1 1/2 miles south of Zittau, where his body was found. Frye apparently was shot between 5 and 6:30 a.m. when his body was found by a passing motorist, Miller said.

Fuller said Frye was shot "extremely close range."

He left the motel without his coat, and there were no signs of a struggle, authorities said. Zittau is about 20 miles from the Embassy.

Fuller would not comment on whether authorities felt the kill-

Supper Club Break-In Nets Thief $400

COMBINED LOCKS — Between $400 and $500 is believed to have been taken in a break-in at Oakwood Hills Supper Club, sometime after it closed at 12:30 a.m. today.

According to Police Chief Ernest Danielson, between $200 and $300 was taken from a cash register, about $100 from a cigarette machine, and between $60 and $70 in change from a jar in the office.

An attempt to enter the juke box was unsuccessful. The safe in the office was not touched, and a jar of bills alongside the leading police to believe that the burglar might have been frightened away.

Entry was gained by forcing a window on the east side of the building. Fresh snow covered any tracks that might have been left, Danielson said.

Traffic in Appleton Nears Saturation

COG Survey Predicts Area Will Face Congestion Problems

If present trends continue, certain roads in the Appleton area soon will become saturated with traffic, creating a serious congestion problem, a State Department of Transportation survey has indicated.

The survey, conducted last spring and this autumn, revealed that there has been heavy increases in the use of certain roads. Some of the most severe increases were on Memorial Drive south of the bridge, the E College Avenue bridge and W Wisconsin Avenue at Badger Avenue.

No conclusions have been drawn yet but department officials are beginning to feed the traffic counts into computers to come up with a simulated traffic model which will point out immediate congestion areas and project where congestion could develop.

The survey was conducted through the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) as part of its three-year comprehensive transportation study. COG planners are studying the figures, comparing them with 1960 counts.

The study, to be completed in early 1972, will analyze area zoning ordinances, many of which have contributed to traffic problems because they are inadequate. The study, which also will consider land use and other factors, includes the entire COG area, except for Sherwood and Oshkosh.

"Traffic volumes definitely have been increased at a fairly rapid rate," said Jerome Starling, COG director of transportation planning.

He said inadequate zoning control and the failure to consider land uses have played a major role in causing congestion at certain locations.

An example, he said, is State 47 near the Valley Fair Shopping Center. The Winnebago County zoning ordinance did not require controls on access, he said, and this has become a problem area.

Starling said the traffic in front of Valley Fair has increased nearly 70 per cent since 1960.

There were other examples of significant increases in the Appleton area. A major one was the E College Avenue bridge where traffic increased 90 per cent, mainly because of the new high school and residential growth in southeastern Appleton and along Newberry Street.

Other increases during this decade were W Wisconsin Avenue just east of Badger, over 50 per cent; the Oneida Street bridge, 40 per cent; Memorial Drive just north of Seymour Street, 30 per cent; W Wisconsin between Mason and Summit, 42 per cent, and W College

Nelson Proposes Additive Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., proposed legislation Monday to require comprehensive testing of food additives before the government approves the additives.

"Unless our food safety law is vastly reformed," Nelson said, "The American public will continue to serve as a massive testing ground for a variety of sweeteners, preservatives, spices and coloring agents that are marketed without safety research."

Many of the already approved 2,000 additives were sanctioned for sale without laboratory analysis for potential health hazards, he declared.

"We simply must stop the practice of allowing food manufacturers to use the unknown consumer as part of a large scale trial in the testing of food additives that have not been redefined recommendations on required to pass adequate laboratory examination," he said.

Nelson said the recent congressional over cyclamates raises legitimate questions about other additives that were once believed safe.
